Operetta Robert Ignatius Letellier, 2015-10-19 Operetta developed in the second half of the 19th century from the French opéra comique and the more lighthearted German Singspiel As the century progressed the serious concerns of mainstream opera were sustained and intensified leaving a gap between opéra comique and vaudeville that necessitated a new type of stage work Jacques Offenbach son of a Cologne synagogue cantor established himself in Paris with his series of opéras bouffes The popular success of this individual new form of entertainment light humorous satirical and also sentimental led to the emergence of operetta as a separate genre an art form with its own special flavour and concerns and no longer simply a little opera Attempts to emulate Offenbach's success in France and abroad generated other national schools of operetta and helped to establish the genre internationally in Spain in England and especially in Austria Hungary Here it inspired works by Franz von Supp and Johann Strauss II the Golden Age and later Franz Lehár and Emmerich Kálmán the Silver Age Viennese operetta flourished contemporaneously with the Habsburg Empire and the mystique of Vienna but after the First World War an artistically vibrant Berlin assumed this leading position with Paul Lincke Leon Jessel and Edouard Knecke As popular musical tastes diverged more and more during the interwar years with the advent of new influences like those of cabaret the revue jazz modern dance music and the cinema as well as changing social mores the operetta genre took on new guises This was especially manifested in the musical comedy of London's West End and New York's Broadway with their imitators generating a success that opened a new golden age for the reinvented genre especially after the Second World War This source book presents an overview of the operetta genre in all its forms The second volume provides a survey of the national schools of Germany Spain England America the Slavonic countries especially Russia Hungary Italy and Greece The principal composers are considered in chronological sequence with biographical material and a list of stage works selected synopses and some commentary This volume also contains a discography and an index covering both volumes general entries singers and theatres

Baudelaire in China Gloria Bien, 2012-12-14 Baudelaire's work entered China in the twentieth century amidst political and social upheavals accompanied by a literary revolution that called for classical models and modes of expression to be replaced by vernacular language and contemporary content Chinese writers welcomed their meeting with the West and openly embraced Western literature as providing models in developing their new literature Baudelaire's reception in China provides a representative study of this meeting of East and west His work which has been declared to stand between tradition and modernity also lies at the intersection between classical and modern literature in China Many of the best known and most highly regarded writers in twentieth century China were drawn to Baudelaire's work and some addressed it directly in their own writings. Bien draws upon H. R. Jauss's theory of the shifting and expanding horizons of expectation in the reading and interpretation of a literary work and upon James J. Y. Lin's notion of worlds received and created by both author and reader to show how poetic lines, images and ideas as well as Chinese critics' comments eventually weave into a rich picture of Baudelaire's reception in China.

The Finger and the Moon Alejandro Jodorowsky, 2016-10-10 Jodo's interpretations of the stories and koans of Zen master Ejo Takata. Offers more than 60 Zen teaching tales, initiatory stories, koans and haikus for self-realization and spiritual awakening. Each story or koan is accompanied by the author's lucid and penetrating commentary, blending the same burlesque slapstick and sublime insight that characterize his films. Explains how one must see beyond the words of the story to grasp the spiritual insights they contain. Before he became the film maker and graphic novel author known throughout the world today, Alejandro Jodorowsky studied with Zen master Ejo Takata in Mexico City. In The Finger and the Moon, Jodorowsky recounts how he became Takata's student and offers his interpretations of the teaching tales, initiatory stories, koans and enigmatic haikus he learned at the feet of his great and humble teacher. Blending the same burlesque slapstick and sublime insight that characterize his films, such as El Topo and The Holy Mountain, each story is accompanied by the author's lucid and penetrating commentary as well as insights from ancient Zen teachers. Yet their most significant gift to the reader is the sudden shock of realization they impart that can lead to spiritual awakening. Jodorowsky notes that most people are incapable of self-realization because of their fear of the void within an emptiness they seek to fill with noise and chatter. He shows that Zen teachings can be compared to a finger pointing at the moon, directing you to awaken to your true nature, the Buddha within. The danger lies in mistaking the pointing finger for the moon, mistaking the words for the essential enlightenment which can only be grasped once words have been surpassed. Unlike most tales, these stories are intended to evoke silent illumination as true awakening and self-realization cannot occur until the mind has been stilled.

Catalog of Copyright Entries. Third Series Library of Congress. Copyright Office, 1972. Catalog of Copyright Entries Library of Congress. Copyright Office, 1908. Seven Conversations with Jorge Luis Borges Fernando Sorrentino, 2010. These wide-ranging conversations have an exceptionally open and intimate tone, giving us a personal glimpse of one of the most fascinating figures in contemporary world literature. Interviewer Fernando Sorrentino, an Argentinian writer and anthologist, is endowed with literary acumen, sensitivity, urbanity and an encyclopedic memory of Jorge Luis Borges' work. In his prologue, Borges jokes that Sorrentino knows his work much better than I do. Borges wanders from nostalgic reminiscence to literary criticism and from philosophical speculation to political pronouncements. His thoughts on literature alone run the gamut from the Bible and Homer to Ernest Hemingway and Julio Cortázar. We learn that Dante is the writer who has impressed Borges most; that Borges considers Federico García Lorca to be a second-rate poet and that he feels Adolfo Bioy Casares is one of the most important authors of this century.

Borges dwells lovingly on Buenos Aires too From the preface For seven afternoons the teller of tales preceded me opening tall doors which revealed unsuspected spiral staircases through the National Library's pleasant maze of corridors in search of a secluded little room where we would not be interrupted by the telephone The Borges who speaks to us in this book is a courteous easy going gentleman who verifies no quotations who does not look back to correct mistakes who pretends to have a poor memory he is not the terse Jorge Luis Borges of the printed page that Borges who calculates and measures each comma and each parenthesis Sorrentino and translator Clark M Zlotchew have included an appendix on the Latin American writers mentioned by Borges

Chats on Old Earthenware Arthur Hayden, 1909 Science Fiction Before 1900 Paul K. Alkon, 2013-04-15 Paul Alkon analyzes several key works that mark the most significant phases in the early evolution of science fiction including Frankenstein Twenty Thousand Leagues Under the Sea A Connecticut Yankee in King Arthur's Court and The Time Machine He places the work in context and discusses the genre and its relation to other kinds of literature

The Works of Anatole France in an English Translation Anatole France, 1914 Translation from French Robert Lindsay Græme Ritchie, James Middleton Moore, 1927

The Man in the Moone Francis Godwin, 2009-08-14 Arguably the first work of science fiction in English Francis Godwin's The Man in the Moone was published in 1638 pseudonymously and posthumously The novel which tells the story of Domingo Gonsales a Spaniard who flies to the moon by geese power and encounters an advanced lunar civilization had an enormous impact on the European imagination for centuries after its initial publication With its discussion of advanced ideas about astronomy and cosmology the novel is an important example of both popular fiction and scientific speculation This Broadview Edition includes a critical introduction that places the text in its scientific and historical contexts The rich selection of appendices includes related writings by Godwin and his predecessors and contemporaries on magnetism human flight voyages to real and unreal lands and the possibility of extra terrestrial life

From Studio to Stage Barbara M. Doscher, 2002 The late Doscher was a singing teacher at the U of Colorado Boulder This volume compiles the note cards on songs and arias that she composed in order to aid her teaching The entries are broadly organized by type of piece with notes on difficulty author keys available ranges tessitura voice types and other comments included Five indexes allow readers to find compositions by composer lyricist title range and difficulty level Annotation copyrighted by Book News Inc Portland OR

Wonder and Science Mary Baine Campbell, 2016-05-02 During the early modern period western Europe was transformed by the proliferation of new worlds geographic worlds found in the voyages of discovery and conceptual and celestial worlds opened by natural philosophy or science The response to incredible overseas encounters and to the profound technological religious economic and intellectual changes occurring in Europe was one of nearly overwhelming wonder expressed in a rich variety of texts In the need to manage this wonder to harness this imaginative overabundance Mary Baine Campbell finds both the sensational beauty of early scientific works and the beginnings of the divergence of the sciences particularly geography astronomy and anthropology from the writing of fiction

Campbell's learned and brilliantly perceptive new book analyzes a cross section of texts in which worlds were made and unmade these texts include cosmographies colonial reports works of natural philosophy and natural history fantastic voyages exotic fictions and confessions Among the authors she discusses are Andr  Thevet Thomas Hariot Francis Bacon Galileo Margaret Cavendish and Aphra Behn Campbell's emphasis is on developments in England and France but she considers works in languages other than English or French which were well known in the polyglot book culture of the time With over thirty well chosen illustrations Wonder and Science enhances our understanding of the culture of early modern Europe the history of science and the development of literary forms including the novel and ethnography

The Man Who Flattened the Earth Mary Terrall, 2006-05-05 Self styled adventurer literary wit philosopher and statesman of science Pierre Louis Moreau de Maupertuis 1698 1759 stood at the center of Enlightenment science and culture Offering an elegant and accessible portrait of this remarkable man Mary Terrall uses the story of Maupertuis's life self fashioning and scientific works to explore what it meant to do science and to be a man of science in eighteenth century Europe Beginning his scientific career as a mathematician in Paris Maupertuis entered the public eye with a much discussed expedition to Lapland which confirmed Newton's calculation that the earth was flattened at the poles He also made significant and often intentionally controversial contributions to physics life science navigation astronomy and metaphysics Called to Berlin by Frederick the Great Maupertuis moved to Prussia to preside over the Academy of Sciences there Equally at home in salons caf s scientific academies and royal courts Maupertuis used his social connections and his printed works to enhance a carefully constructed reputation as both a man of letters and a man of science His social and institutional affiliations in turn affected how Maupertuis formulated his ideas how he presented them to his contemporaries and the reactions they provoked Terrall not only illuminates the life and work of a colorful and important Enlightenment figure but also uses his story to delve into many wider issues including the development of scientific institutions the impact of print culture on science and the interactions of science and government Smart and highly readable Maupertuis will appeal to anyone interested in eighteenth century science and culture Terrall's work is scholarship in the best sense Her explanations of arcane 18th century French physics mathematics astronomy and biology are among the most lucid available in any language Virginia Dawson American Historical Review Winner of the 2003 Pfizer Award from the History of Science Society
