Life Science Paper 1 November 2014:

How America Stacks Up Edward Alden, Rebecca Strauss, 2016-02-01 American leadership in the world is built on the foundation of its economic strength Yet the United States faces enormous economic competition abroad and threats to its economy at home In How America Stacks Up Economic Competitiveness and U S Policy Edward Alden Bernard L Schwartz senior fellow at the Council on Foreign Relations and director of the Renewing America initiative and Rebecca Strauss associate director of Renewing America focus on those areas of economic policy that are the most important for reinforcing America's competitive strengths Covering education transportation trade and investment corporate tax worker retraining regulation debt and deficits and innovation How America Stacks Up shows how in a highly competitive global economy these seemingly domestic issues are all crucial to U S success in the global economy The line between domestic economic policy and foreign economic policy is now almost invisible and getting these policies right matters for more than just U S living standards The United States ability to influence world events rests on a robust competitive economy But without further investment in education infrastructure and innovation Alden and Strauss show the United States runs the risk of endangering its greatest competitive advantage Through insightful analysis and engaging graphics How America Stacks Up outlines the challenges faced by the United States and prescribes solutions that will ensure a healthy competitive U S economy for years to come

Postapocalyptic Fantasies in Antebellum American Literature John Hay, 2017-10-05 Even before the Civil War American writers were imagining life after a massive global catastrophe For many the blank slate of the American continent was instead a wreckage strewn wasteland a new world in ruins Bringing together epic and lyric poems fictional tales travel narratives and scientific texts Postapocalyptic Fantasies in Antebellum American Literature reveals that US authors who enthusiastically celebrated the myths of primeval wilderness and virgin land also frequently resorted to speculations about the annihilation of civilizations past and future By examining such postapocalyptic fantasies this study recovers an antebellum rhetoric untethered to claims for historical exceptionalism a patriotic rhetoric that celebrates America while denying the United States a unique position outside of world history As the scientific field of natural history produced new theories regarding biological extinction geological transformation and environmental collapse American writers responded with wild visions of the ancient past and the distant future

The Opposite of Hate Sally Kohn, 2018-04-10 Brilliantly illustrates the immense and disarming power of changing course and driving not toward division but toward civility and mutual respect Ms magazine As a progressive commentator on Fox News and now CNN Sally Kohn has made a career out of bridging intractable political differences In this age of dangerous partisan resentment and rising bigotry she decided to investigate hate itself to better consider how we can stop it With her trademark humor and humanity Kohn introduces us to leading researchers and scientists who are exploring the evolutionary and cultural roots of hate She travels to Rwanda to the Middle East and across the United States talking with former terrorists and reformed white supremacists and even sitting down with some of her own Twitter trolls What she discovers is surprising All of us harbor hate but the powerful acknowledgment that we are all in this together can lead us out of the wilderness The opposite of hate is connection

Processes of Believing: The Acquisition, Maintenance, and Change in Creditions Hans-Ferdinand Angel, Lluís Oviedo, Raymond F. Paloutzian, Anne L.C. Runehov, Rüdiger J. Seitz, 2017-04-13 This volume answers the question Why do we believe what we believe It examines current research on the concept of beliefs and the development in our understanding of the process of believing It takes into account empirical findings in the field of neuroscience regarding the processes that underlie beliefs and discusses the notion that beyond the interactive exploratory analysis of sensory information from the complex outside world humans engage in an evaluative analysis by which they attribute personal meaning and relevance to the probabilistic representations of objects and events Beliefs exert a strong influence on behaviour decision making and identifying and solving problems Despite their importance beliefs have until recently not been at the centre of scientific interest In fact belief is an ill defined phenomenon From a transdisciplinary perspective the actual approaches to understanding belief seem incompatible as they attempt to highlight such different topics as belief religion belief spirituality belief faith belief knowledge belief attitude belief disbelief belief illusion and believing brain function This situation contradicts the idea that belief is close to pathological phenomena and that it should be eliminated from scientific discussions Rather believing is fundamental for understanding the many problems of every day life In fact the book shows that beliefs are relevant for politics international affairs economy law or religions also in modern societies This book presents the increasing scientific interest in beliefs and believing and reflects the change in focus from the content aspect of belief towards the fluid nature of believing Plant Glycobiology – a sweet world of lectins, glycoproteins, glycolipids and glycans Els J. M. Van Damme, Nausicaä Lannoo, Cécile Albenne, Elisabeth Jamet, 2015-02-12

Plants synthesize a wide variety of unique glycan structures which play essential roles during the life cycle of the plant Being omnipresent throughout the plant kingdom ranging from simple green algae to modern flowering plants glycans contribute to many diverse processes Glycans can function as structural components in the plant cell wall assist in the folding of nascent proteins act as signaling molecules in plant defense responses or ER stress pathways or serve within the energy metabolism of a plant In most cases glycans are attached to other macromolecules to form so called glycoconjugates e g glycoproteins proteoglycans and glycolipids but they can also be present as free entities residing in the plant cell Next to the broad complex set of glycans plants also evolved an elaborate collection of lectins or proteins with a lectin like domain which can recognize and bind to endogenous plants own or exogenous foreign glycans Though still poorly understood in plants the dynamic interactions between lectins and carbohydrate structures are suggested to be involved in gene transcription protein folding protein transport cell adhesion signaling as well as defense responses As such a complex and largely undetermined glycan interactome is established inside plant cells between cells and their surrounding matrix inside the extracellular matrix and even between organisms Studying the biological roles of plant glycans will enable to better understand plant development and physiology in order to fully exploit plants for food feed and production of pharmaceutical proteins In this Research Topic we want to provide a platform for articles describing the latest research perspectives and methodologies related to the fascinating world of plant glycobiology with a focus on following subjects 1 Identification and characterization of plant glycans their biosynthetic and degradation enzymes 2 Characterization of plant lectins and glycoproteins 3 Plant glycans in the plant s energy metabolism 4 Role of plant glycans in plant defense signaling 5 Use of plant lectins in pest control 6 Plant lectins as new tools in human medicine 7 Glyco engineering in plants Environmental Change and the World's Futures Jonathan Paul Marshall, Linda H. Connor, 2015-08-27 Climate change and ecological instability have the potential to disrupt human societies and their futures Cultural social and ethical life in all societies is directed towards a future that can never be observed and never be directly acted upon and yet is always interacting with us Thinking and acting towards the future involves efforts of imagination that are linked to our sense of being in the world and the ecological pressures we experience The three key ideas of this book ecologies ontologies and mythologies help us understand the ways people in many different societies attempt to predict and shape their futures Each chapter places a different emphasis on the linked domains of environmental change embodied experience myth and fantasy politics technology and intellectual reflection in relation to imagined futures The diverse geographic scope of the chapters includes rural Nepal the islands of the Pacific Ocean Sweden coastal Scotland North America and remote rural and urban Australia This book will appeal to researchers and students in anthropology sociology environmental studies cultural studies psychology and politics The Great Transition Bruce M. S. Campbell, 2016-06-23 In the fourteenth century the Old World witnessed a series of profound and abrupt changes in the trajectory of long established historical trends Transcontinental networks of exchange fractured and an era of economic contraction and demographic decline dawned from which Latin Christendom would not begin to emerge until its voyages of discovery at the end of the fifteenth century In a major new study of this Great Transition Bruce Campbell assesses the contributions of commercial recession war climate change and eruption of the Black Death to a far reaching reversal of fortunes from which no part of Eurasia was spared The book synthesises a wealth of new historical palaeo ecological and biological evidence including estimates of national income reconstructions of past climates and genetic analysis of DNA extracted from the teeth of plague victims to provide a fresh account of the creation collapse and realignment of Western Europe's late medieval commercial economy

India's New Independent Cinema Ashvin Immanuel Devasundaram, 2016-06-10 This is the first ever book on the rise of the new wave of independent Indian films that is revolutionising Indian cinema Contemporary scholarship on Indian cinema so far has focused asymmetrically on Bollywood India's dominant cultural export Reversing this trend this book provides an in depth examination of the burgeoning independent Indian film sector It locates the new Indies as a glocal hybrid film form global in aesthetic and local in content They critically engage with a diverse socio political spectrum of state of the nation stories from farmer suicides disenfranchised urban youth and migrant workers to monks turned anti corporation animal rights agitators This book provides comprehensive analyses of definitive Indie new wave films including Peepli Live 2010 Dhobi Ghat 2010 The Lunchbox 2013 and Ship of Theseus 2013 It explores how subversive Indies such as polemical postmodern rap musical Gandu 2010 transgress conventional notions of traditional Indian values and collide with state censorship regulations This timely and pioneering analysis shows how the new Indies have emerged from a middle space between India's globalising present and traditional past This book draws on in depth interviews with directors actors academics and members of the Indian censor board and is essential reading for anyone seeking an insight into a current Indian film phenomenon that could chart the future of Indian cinema

Innovation, Alliances, and Networks in High-Tech Environments Fiorenza Belussi, Luigi Orsi, 2015-09-16 Recent years have seen a growth in strategic alliances mergers and acquisitions and collaborative networks involving knowledge intensive and hi tech industries However there have been relatively few studies

looking at this form of collaboration as a strategy to drive firms innovative performances This book specifically focuses on the role of strategic alliances M A and innovation networks providing insights on if and how they contribute to boosting firms innovation performances The book has a double purpose Firstly it investigates at an industry level the role played by the alliance M As and networks in high tech environments such as biotechnology pharmaceutical software and nanotechnology in creating transforming and reshaping the dynamics inside and between industries Secondly it explores the impact at the firm level of factors such as cognitive distance management capabilities and relational and social capabilities on firms global innovation capacity measured as innovation quantity innovation quality and innovation novelty The book will be of interest to scholars working on the economics of innovation innovation management studies strategic management regional science and evolutionary economics among other areas Entrepreneurship, Universities & Resources Ulla Hytti,Robert

Blackburn,Denise Fletcher,Friederike Welter,2016-11-25 The role of resources is pivotal in entrepreneurship for the success of new and small ventures though most face resource constraints The book offers multiple perspectives on analysing and understanding the importance of resources in entrepreneurship development Approaching the subject with both a practice theory and research based approach the contributors analyse topics such as processes and structures in social entreprenuring entrepreneurship and equity in crowdfunding and forming alliances with large firms to overcome resource constraints The contributors provide evidence for example on how business angels can contribute more than finance to small ventures and how the flexibility of resources is important in internationalisation Shelf Life Dominic Man,2015-03-23 Shelf life a term recognised in EU UK food legislation may be defined as the period of time for which a food product will remain safe and fit for use provided that it is kept in defined storage conditions During this period the product should retain its desired sensory chemical physical functional and microbiological characteristics as well as accurately comply with any nutritional information printed on the label Shelf life therefore refers to a number of different aspects each food product has a microbiological shelf life a chemical shelf life and a sensory or organoleptic shelf life These categories reflect the different ways in which a food product will deteriorate over time Ultimately the shelf life of a food product is intended to reflect the overall effect of these different aspects Shelf life has always been an important facet of industrial food preparation and production as food and drink are often produced in one area and then distributed to other areas for retailing and consumption Globalised distribution and supply chains make it imperative that food should survive the transit between producer and consumer as a perishable commodity food carries a high risk of spoilage As such a realistic workable and reproducible shelf life has to be determined every time a new food product is developed and marketed shelf life determination of food has become an integral part of food safety quality assurance product development marketing and consumer behaviour Dominic Mans Shelf Life now in a revised and updated second edition encompasses the core considerations about shelf life Section 1 introduces shelf life describes its relationship to food safety and provides answers to the frequently asked questions around shelf life determination and testing which are a managers chief concerns Section 2 covers the science of the various ways in which food deteriorates and spoils including the physical chemical and microbiological changes Section 3 looks at shelf life in practice using case studies of different products to illustrate how shelf life may be determined in real life settings This book will be invaluable to both practitioners and students in need of a succinct and comprehensive overview of shelf life concerns and topics Handbook of BRICS and Emerging Economies PB Anand,Shailaja Fennell,Flavio Comim,2020-12-16 Ever since Jim O Neill at Goldman Sachs coined the term BRICS in 2001 there have been many different assessments of these major emerging economies with some even proclaiming that the promise of the BRICS comprising Brazil Russia India China and South Africa is over However the so called arranged marriage still seems to be working well with the club having become a formal international forum with summit declarations ministerial meetings and numerous BRICS wide fora Is this euphoria misplaced Is there a BRICS model of economic and human development Are inequalities increasing and is this the denouncement of the economic successes Are geo political tensions rising between these nations During the post COVID 19 situation the importance of bilateral and multilateral co operation mechanisms and institutions is becoming clear This book focuses on one such emerging co operation mechanism of BRICS but also more widely on those five countries and other similar economies As a global depression looms large global economic recovery depends on the performance of not only its largest economies but also many other important and significant economies within the so called G20 group Even prior to the COVID 19 outbreak multilateral institutions have been under considerable strain as with the relationship between the United States of America and China and risks to global economic recovery appear very real This book brings together multi disciplinary perspectives from over sixty scholars and it presents a comprehensive and deep dive into the BRICS and emerging economies and into an understanding the political economic and social contexts that can help in designing approaches for recovery and regaining the last momentum in the journey towards the Sustainable Development Goals Future War Christopher Coker,2015-11-12 Will tomorrow s wars be dominated by autonomous drones land robots and warriors wired into a cybernetic network which can read their thoughts Will war be fought with greater or lesser humanity Will it be played out in cyberspace and further afield in Low Earth Orbit Or will it be fought more intensely still in the sprawling cities of the developing world the grim black holes of social exclusion on our increasingly unequal planet Will the Great Powers reinvent conflict between themselves or is war destined to become much smaller both in terms of its actors and the beliefs for which they will be willing to kill In this illuminating new book Christopher Coker takes us on an incredible journey into the future of warfare Focusing on contemporary trends that are changing the nature and dynamics of armed conflict he shows how conflict will continue to evolve in ways that are unlikely to render our century any less bloody than the last With insights from philosophy cutting edge scientific research and popular culture Future War is a compelling and thought provoking meditation on the shape of war to come Creole Studies -

Phylogenetic Approaches Peter Bakker, Finn Borchsenius, Carsten Levisen, Eeva M. Sippola, 2017-05-31 This book launches a new approach to creole studies founded on phylogenetic network analysis. Phylogenetic approaches offer new visualisation techniques and insights into the relationships between creoles and non creoles, creoles and other contact varieties and between creoles and lexifier languages. With evidence from creole languages in Africa, Asia, the Americas and the Pacific, the book provides new perspectives on creole typology, cross creole comparisons and creole semantics. The book offers an introduction for newcomers to the fields of creole studies and phylogenetic analysis. Using these methods to analyse a variety of linguistic features, both structural and semantic, the book then turns to explore old and new questions and problems in creole studies. Original case studies explore the differences and similarities between creoles and propose solutions to the problems of how to classify creoles and how they formed and developed. The book provides a fascinating glimpse into the unity and heterogeneity of creoles and the areal influences on their development. It also provides metalinguistic discussions of the creole concept from different perspectives. Finally, the book reflects critically on the findings and methods and sets new agendas for future studies. Creole Studies has been written for a broad readership of scholars and students in the fields of contact linguistics, biolinguistics, sociolinguistics, language typology and semantics. Arab Dawn Bessma

Momani, 2015-11-26 In the West, news about the Middle East is dominated by an endless stream of reports and commentary about civil war, sectarian violence, religious extremism and economic stagnation. But do they tell the full story? For instance, who knew that university enrolment in the war-torn Palestinian territories exceeds that of Hong Kong, or that more than a third of Lebanese entrepreneurs are women? Change is on its way in the Middle East, argues Bessma Momani, and its cause is demographic. Today, one in five Arabs is between the ages of fifteen and twenty-four. Young, optimistic and increasingly cosmopolitan, their generation will shape the region's future. Drawing on interviews, surveys and other research conducted with young people in fifteen countries across the Arab world, Momani describes the passion for entrepreneurship, reform and equality among Arab youth. With insightful political analysis based on the latest statistics and first-hand accounts, Arab Dawn is an invigorating study of the Arab world and the transformative power of youth. Issues in Teaching and Learning of Education for Sustainability Chew-Hung Chang, Gillian Kidman, Andy Wi, 2019-09-25 In a fast-changing, globalising world, the teaching and implementation of a curriculum for Education for Sustainability (EfS) has been a challenge for many teachers. Issues in Teaching and Learning of Education for Sustainability highlights the issues and challenges educators and academics face in implementing EfS and gives examples of what an EfS curriculum may look like and how some institutions translate the theory into practice. Organised into three parts, the volume looks at the who, EfS for whom, the what, EfS curriculum, and the how, translating from theory to practice. The concluding chapter provides ideas and directions on where the world can proceed regarding sustainability education and how it can help in the teaching and learning of sustainability. Considering social issues such as poverty, education, health, culture and the use of natural resources, this book proposes a
