Alternative Models of Addiction Hanna Pickard,Serge H. Ahmed,Bennett Foddy,2015-12-07 For much of the 20th century theories of addictive behaviour and motivation were polarized between two models. The first model viewed addiction as a moral failure for which addicts are rightly held responsible and judged accordingly. The second model, in contrast, viewed addiction as a specific brain disease caused by neurobiological adaptations occurring in response to chronic drug or alcohol use and over which addicts have no choice or control. As our capacity to observe neurobiological phenomena improved, the second model became scientific orthodoxy, increasingly dominating addiction research and informing public understandings of addiction. More recently, however, a dissenting view has emerged within addiction research, based partly on new scientific research and partly on progress in philosophical and psychological understandings of relevant mental phenomena. This view does not revert to treating addiction as a moral failure but nonetheless holds that addictive behaviour is fundamentally motivated by choice and subject to at least a degree of voluntary control. On this alternative model of addiction, addictive behaviour is an instrumental means to ends that are desired by the individual, although much controversy exists with respect to the rationality or irrationality of these ends, the degree and nature of the voluntary control of addictive behaviour and motivation, the explanation of the difference between addictive and non-addictive behaviour and motivation, and lastly, the extent to which addictive behaviour and motivation is correctly characterised as pathological or diseased. This research topic includes papers in the traditions of neuroscience, psychology, philosophy, law, and social science that explore alternative understandings of addiction.

Health Informatics - E-Book Ramona Nelson, Nancy Stagg, 2016-12-08. Awarded second place in the 2017 AJN Book of the Year Awards in the Information Technology category. See how information technology intersects with health care. Health Informatics: An Interprofessional Approach, 2nd Edition, prepares you for success in today's technology-filled healthcare practice. Concise coverage includes information systems and applications such as electronic health records, clinical decision support, telehealth, ePatients, and social media tools, as well as system implementation. New to this edition are topics including data science and analytics, mHealth, principles of project management, and contract negotiations. Written by expert informatics educators Ramona Nelson and Nancy Stagg, this edition enhances the book that won a 2013 American Journal of Nursing Book of the Year award. Experts from a wide range of health disciplines cover the latest on the interprofessional aspects of informatics, a key Quality and Safety Education for Nurses (QSEN) initiative and a growing specialty area in nursing. Case studies encourage higher-level thinking about how concepts apply to real-world nursing practice. Discussion questions challenge you to think critically and to visualize the future of health informatics. Objectives, key terms, and an abstract at the beginning of each chapter provide an overview of what you will learn. Conclusion and Future Directions section at the end of each chapter describes how informatics will continue to evolve as healthcare moves to an interprofessional foundation. NEW! Updated chapters reflect the current and evolving practice of health informatics, using real-life healthcare examples to show how informatics applies to a wide range of topics and issues. NEW! mHealth chapter discusses the use of mobile technology, a new method of health delivery especially for urban or underserved populations, and describes the changing levels of responsibility for both patients and providers NEW Data Science and Analytics in Healthcare chapter shows how Big Data as well as analytics using data mining and knowledge discovery techniques applies to healthcare NEW Project Management Principles chapter discusses proven project management tools and techniques for coordinating all types of health informatics related projects NEW Contract Negotiations chapter describes strategic methods and tips for negotiating a contract with a healthcare IT vendor NEW Legal Issues chapter explains how federal regulations and accreditation processes may impact the practice of health informatics NEW HITECH Act chapter explains the regulations relating to health informatics in the Health Information Technology for Education and Clinical Health Act as well as the Meaningful Use and Medicare Access CHIP Reauthorization Act of 2015
