Self-determination and Secession in International Law Christian Walter, Antje von Ungern-Sternberg, Kavus Abushov, 2014 Peoples and minorities in many parts of the world assert a right to self determination autonomy and even secession from a state which naturally conflicts with that state's sovereignty and territorial integrity The right of a people to self determination and secession has existed as a concept within international law since the American Declaration of Independence in 1776 but the exact definition of these concepts and the conditions required for their application remain unclear The Advisory Opinion of the International Court of Justice concerning the Declaration of Independency of Kosovo 2010 which held that the Kosovo declaration of independence was not in violation of international law has only led to further questions This book takes four conflicts in the post Soviet Commonwealth of Independent States CIS as a starting point for examining the current state of the law of self determination and secession Four entities Transnistria Moldova South Ossetia Abkhazia both Georgia and Nagorno Karabakh Armenia claim to be entitled not only to self determination but also to secession from their mother state For this entitlement they rely on historic affiliations and on charges of discrimination and massive human rights violations committed by their mother state This book sets out its analysis of these critical issues in three parts providing a detailed understanding of the principles of international law on which they rely The first part sets out the contours and meaning of self determination and secession including an overall assessment of secession within the Commonwealth of Independent States The second section provides case studies investigating the events in Transnistria South Ossetia Abkhazia and Nagorno Karabach in greater detail The third and final section extends the scope of the examination providing a comparative analysis of similar conflicts involving questions of self determination and secession in Kosovo Western Sahara and Eritrea

Closed Head Injury Neil Brooks, 1984 While covering a wide range of interpersonal and societal issues this book focuses on the two main types of psychological problems that may follow physical recovery from severe brain injury disturbances of memory and information processing and difficulties in volition emotional control and behavior Deficits in these areas are examined in detail with particular attention given to memory intellect and attentional changes and psychiatric disturbance The consequences of head injury on the family are described and there is a section devoted to the special case of head injury in children Buying Social Justice Christopher McCrudden,2007-09-13 Buying Social Justice analyses how governments in developed and developing countries use their contracting power in order to advance social equality and reduce discrimination and argues that this approach is an entirely legitimate and underused means of achieving social justice The Aftermath of Road Accidents Margaret Mitchell,2021-12-24 Accidents on the road are so common place in our lives today it s easy to believe that there are plenty of support systems in place for the victims Death and injuries on the road are construed primarily as medico legal phenomena re inforced both by the way accidents are described and by issues of insurance and compensation for damage and personal injury But there are many profound psychological and social consequences that remain underestimated Margaret Mitchell has compiled this collection from leading researchers to examine this neglected area for the unseen victims the families who have to cope with bereavement or a disabled relative the driver who has killed but is medically uninjured It will be of great direct value to psychologists psychiatrists and other health professionals and will serve as a useful reference for those in the legal profession voluntary associations and those with personal experience of road traffic accidents needing advice about where to seek further help
