

Market Research and target market segmentation in Place Marketing procedure: A structural analysis

Theodoros Metaxas

Department of Planning and Regional Development, University of Thessaly, Volos, 38 334, Greece

Abstract

The purpose of the paper is to present a structural analysis of market research and target market segmentation procedures in Place Marketing implementation. The paper focuses on city's internal and external environment in micro-macroeconomical level, trying to set up a wide range of important questions concerning the planning and the successful performance of Place Marketing. The first part of the paper analyses Place Marketing as a strategic procedure. The second and the third parts examine the role of market research and target market segmentation in the Place Marketing process. The fourth part presents a structural analysis, by putting market research and target market segmentation procedures into city's internal and external environment, in a variety of areas of analysis. Furthermore, some very important questions related to each area and environment of analysis are discussed. The article supports that this structure is characterized by flexibility since it can be used in more specialized research fields, such as: tourism, culture, innovation, business activities, leisure and recreation etc.

Key words: place marketing, market research, target market segmentation, city's internal and external environment

Basics of Marketing Management Pooja

Deshmukh, 2023-01-13 In the era of exponential advancement in technology and increasing globalization marketing professionals need to run a neck to neck race with their competitors to gain and maintain a competitive advantage Marketing students and professionals need to learn the skills of marketing as applicable to this intense competitive environment. However, only a few marketing management books truly capture and explain the concepts of marketing in an easily understandable and crisp manner. This book has been written to present the basics in a very lucid manner. It covers topics that are vital for the fundamental understanding of marketing. The contents of this book cover the curriculum applicable in a large number of universities at the UG and PG levels. Some case studies have been included for illustrating the application of the concepts of marketing.

Strategic Marketing in Library and Information Science Irene Owens, 2002. Combine marketing and strategic planning techniques to make your library more successful. With cutting edge research studies as well as theoretical chapters that have not been seen before in the marketing literature for LIS, this book examines the current and quite limited state of marketing by LIS practitioners and institutions. It provides you with examples of how marketing can be made more widely applicable within LIS and illustrates some of the usefulness of marketing in special LIS settings and contexts. The book explains how and why managers should combine marketing strategy with strategic planning and demonstrates the means by which LIS could move toward a more full fledged use of marketing. Relationship marketing and social marketing in particular. In order to be a more effective tool, Strategic Marketing in Library and Information Science is divided into two sections: The Basis and Context for Marketing theoretical information and The Application of Marketing practical applications that you can put to use in your institution. Chapters cover existing literature on marketing in LIS, what it has to offer and what it lacks; strategic planning that must take place before marketing money is spent; the branding process and how it can be helpful in LIS marketing; a marketing method for bridging the gap between staffing needs and the current shortage of librarians; a way to use relationship marketing techniques to respond to the challenge of marketing electronic resources; marketing applications relevant to theological libraries; the effective use of social marketing at the Austin History Center; a fascinating case study; a fresh marketing approach to bridging gaps between cultural history and education; the importance of marketing for public libraries.
