Bassett, 2015-01-30 Following their first contact in 1519 accounts of Aztecs identifying Spaniards as gods proliferated But what exactly did the Aztecs mean by a god teotl and how could human beings become gods or take on godlike properties This sophisticated interdisciplinary study analyzes three concepts that are foundational to Aztec religion teotl god teixiptla localized embodiment of a god and tlaquimilolli sacred bundles containing precious objects to shed new light on the Aztec understanding of how spiritual beings take on form and agency in the material world In The Fate of Earthly Things Molly Bassett draws on ethnographic fieldwork linguistic analyses visual culture and ritual studies to explore what ritual practices such as human sacrifice and the manufacture of deity embodiments including humans who became gods material effigies and sacred bundles meant to the Aztecs She analyzes the Aztec belief that wearing the flayed skin of a

sacrificial victim during a sacred rite could transform a priest into an embodiment of a god or goddess as well as how figurines and sacred bundles could become localized embodiments of gods Without arguing for unbroken continuity between the Aztecs and modern speakers of Nahuatl Bassett also describes contemporary rituals in which indigenous Mexicans who preserve costumbres traditions incorporate totiotzin gods made from paper into their daily lives This research allows us to understand a religious imagination that found life in death and believed that deity embodiments became animate through the ritual binding of blood skin and bone Lloyd's Encyclopaedic Dictionary ,1896 A History of Ancient Chinese Geoscience Wenheng Yang,Qinye Yang,2025-04-30 This book studies the history of geoscience in ancient China Building on a comprehensive review of the historical development of Chinese geoscience the authors map out the trends and patterns in the development of geoscience thereby filling a research gap in this field and laying the groundwork for a systematic study of the history of Chinese geoscience The Chinese version of this book was selected as a key national book planning project under China s 12th Five Year Plan and was funded by the National Publication Foundation It also won the 6th China Outstanding Publication Award Encompassing historical accounts of both geography and geology the book explores the origin development and prosperity of ancient Chinese geoscience It introduces a wide range of topics covering a time span from the primitive societies to the Late Qing dynasty In each time period as well as discussion of the contexts topics include the mainstream schools of thought scientific discoveries and their significance scholarly works well known experts major research activities research institutes educational programmes academic journals scientific instruments and knowledge exchange The book also deals with the history of several neighbouring disciplines such as climatology cartology hydrology geomorphology and mineral petrology The authors provide an exceptionally detailed description of geoscience in embryo the forming of early knowledge of the Earth in primitive society For the first time philosophers geoscientific understanding of the world and the findings of historical mineralogy and petrology are brought to the fore supported by data from various sources including ancient literature archives and documentation archaeological sites cultural artefacts and modern experimental evidence The novel design of contextualising each phase of development in its unique social political conditions is unprecedented and of high academic and social value Marked by its specialised interpretation and scientific rigour this work proves to be unparalleled in revealing the reciprocity between scientific innovation and societal transformation thus providing valuable lessons and inspiration for future geoscientists As a reference book on the history of geoscience it aims to provide specialist guidance for professionals in the field of geoscience geoscience historians and researchers university teachers and students in relevant disciplines and teachers of geography or science in primary or secondary schools
