Notes and Queries, 1912 Dorsality David Wills, 2008 In this highly original book David Wills rethinks not only our nature before all technology but also what we understand to be technology Rather than considering the human being as something natural that then develops technology Wills argues we should instead imagine an originary imbrication of nature and machine that begins with a dorsal turn a turn that takes place behind our back outside our field of vision With subtle and insightful readings Wills pursues this sense of what lies behind our idea of the human by rescuing Heidegger's thinking from a reductionist dismissal of technology examining different angles on Levinas's face to face relation and tracing a politics of friendship and sexuality in Derrida and Sade He also analyzes versions of exile in Joyce's rewriting of Homer and Broch's rewriting of Virgil and discusses how Freud and Rimbaud exemplify the rhetoric of soil and blood that underlies every attempt to draw lines between nations and discriminate between peoples In closing Wills demonstrates the political force of rhetoric in a sophisticated analysis of Nietzsche's oft quoted declaration that God is dead Forward motion Wills ultimately reveals is an ideology through which we have favored the front what can be seen over the aspects of the human and technology that lie behind the back and in the spine what can be sensed otherwise and shows that this preference has had profound environmental political sexual and ethical consequences David Wills is professor of French and English at the University of Albany SUNY He is the author of Prosthesis and Matchbook Essays in Deconstruction as well as the translator of works by Jacques Derrida including The Gift of Death

Alfred Tarski and the "Concept of Truth in Formalized Languages" Monika Gruber, 2016-09-02 This book provides a detailed commentary on the classic monograph by Alfred Tarski and offers a reinterpretation and retranslation of the work

using the original Polish text and the English and German translations In the original work Tarski presents a method for constructing definitions of truth for classical quantificational formal languages Furthermore using the defined notion of truth he demonstrates that it is possible to provide intuitively adequate definitions of the semantic notions of definability and denotation and that the notion in a structure can be defined in a way that is analogous to that used to define truth Tarski's piece is considered to be one of the major contributions to logic semantics and epistemology in the 20th century However the author points out that some mistakes were introduced into the text when it was translated into German in 1935 As the 1956 English version of the work was translated from the German text those discrepancies were carried over in addition to new mistakes The author has painstakingly compared the three texts sentence by sentence highlighting the inaccurate translations offering explanations as to how they came about and commenting on how they have influenced the content and suggesting a correct interpretation of certain passages Furthermore the author thoroughly examines Tarski's article offering interpretations and comments on the work
