Ethics and Global Environmental Policy Paul G. Harris, 2011 We've had 20 years of government level conferences at Kyoto Copenhagen and Cancun but greenhouse gas emissions continue to rise Taking a cosmopolitan approach to climate change in this excellent and timely book Paul Harris and his contributors argue that citizen action is an essential complement to state action The challenging unsettling and absolutely vital argument of these high quality essays is that distance makes no moral difference in our globalised world individual high emitters have a duty to reduce their emissions wherever they are Andrew Dobson Keele University UK This collection of provocative essays re-evaluates the world's failed policy responses to climate change in the process demonstrating how cosmopolitan ethics can inform global environmental governance A cosmopolitan worldview points to climate related policies that are less international and more global From a cosmopolitan perspective national borders should not delineate obligations and responsibilities associated with climate change Human beings rather than the narrow interests of nation states ought to be at the centre of moral calculations and policy responses to climate change In this volume expert contributors examine questions of individual and global responsibility burden sharing among people and states international law and environmental justice capitalism and voluntary action pluralist cooperation and hegemony and alternative approaches to climate action and diplomacy The book helps to illuminate new principles for global environmental policy that can come from cosmopolitan conceptions of climate change Resources in Education, 1998-04 English Mechanic and World of Science, 1878 Palmer's Index to the Times Newspaper ..., 1898

Globalization and Development in East Asia Jan Nederveen Pieterse, Jongtae Kim, 2012-08-06 East Asia is widely regarded as the main winner in contemporary globalization unscathed by the economic crisis of 2008 with its leading new industrializing nations and emerging economies While 20th century globalization was mainly led by the West the 21st century is ushering in different dynamics The re emergence of Asia involves alternative visions of the world and different perspectives on globalization This volume seeks to address these dimensions turning to local reflexivities notably in South Korea and China to explore the key debates in sociology and political economy within East Asia rather than from an outside view

The Oxford Handbook of Non-Synoptic Wind Storms Horia Hangan,Ahsan Kareem,2021-08-23 In different areas of the world much of the damage due to wind is caused by non synoptic local wind storm events such as tornadoes and downbursts In North America the damage due to these winds is more than 65% of total wind damage and there are no guidelines or code implementations to deal with such catastrophic events As we enter the third decade of the twenty first century current research is in its first phase of addressing these types of events from their characterization simulation and loading to collapse mode effects on buildings and structures as well as socioeconomic implications The need is clear to better understand non synoptic local winds properly simulate them assess the difference in loading between these events and synoptic large scale winds that have been part of the wind engineering practice for more than five decades determine their statistics and associated risks and apply this through guidelines codes risk mitigation and adaptation responses to socioeconomic impact The Oxford Handbook of Non Synoptic Wind Storms led by Dr Horia Hangan and Dr Ahsan Kareem features nearly 30 chapters contributed by an international panel of leading scientists scholars and engineers that address these issues and stimulate thought research and responses to non synoptic wind storm hazards in North America and worldwide Together these articles provide clear definitions of the problems to be tackled offer a strategic framework for forward looking research identify the best suited tools and methodologies to address the problems at hand and suggest ways to maximize collaborative planning between the disciplines that will tackle these challenges
