Topics in Acute and Chronic Pancreatitis L.A. Scuro, A. Dagradi, G.P. Marzoli, P. Pederzoli, G. Cavallini, C. Banterle, 2012-12-06. The increasing incidence of both chronic pancreatitis and pancreatic cancer was the primary impetus for the organization of this meeting, an additional factor being the widespread existence of pancreatic disease within Italy itself. It is well known that the treatment of chronic and particularly of acute pancreatitis is still a matter of controversy and it seemed useful to compare our own experience with that of other centers working in the same field. Consequently, in addition to numerous Italian specialists in the field, doctors from the Federal Republic of Germany, Denmark, Great Britain, France and Austria were invited to attend the meeting. The symposium lasted two days and comprised eight sessions dealing with the anatomy and physiology of the pancreas and the pathophysiology, diagnosis and treatment of pancreatic diseases. A central feature of the discussion on the surgical treatment of chronic pancreatitis was the debate between those who favor the use of drainage and those who believe resection to be the best treatment. Finally, I would like to thank Dr. Cavallini and Dr. Pederzoli very much for their help in organizing the meeting and also the local authorities for their aid. Professor Adamo Dagradi, Director of the Institute of Clinica Chirurgica Verona, Opening Address: I am pleased to welcome all participants and particularly the guests from abroad to this meeting on the clinical evaluation of pancreatitis.

RAF Evaders Oliver Clutton-Brock, 2009-02-19. Stories of the British airmen shot down over Western Europe who evaded capture by the Germans and made their way to Allied territory during World War II. During the five years from May 1940 to May 1945, several thousand Allied airmen forced to abandon their aircraft behind enemy lines, evaded capture and reached freedom by land, sea and air. The territory held by the Germans was immense, from Norway and Denmark in the north through Holland, Belgium

Luxembourg to the south of France and initially there was no organization to help the men on the run The first one to assist the evaders and escapers E named after a naval officer Pat O Leary from 1942 it became the PAO line Next was the Comet line from Brussels to the Pyrenees Thousands of brave people were to be involved for whom if caught the penalty was death Theirs is a stirring and awe inspiring story Respected historian Oliver Clutton Brock has researched in depth this secret world of evasion uncovering some treachery and many hitherto unpublished details operations and photos It is a tremendous reference work written in his own colorful style with numerous anecdotes which fills a gap of knowledge formerly unavailable to historians professional or amateur Packed the information key figure biographies and listings 2 094 evaders identified this is a valuable testimony to the courage of all those involved Commercial Fisheries Review ,1961 Environmental Health Perspectives ,1993
