WHAT TO KNOW BEFORE YOU TAKE THAT FIRST SWEEPING LEAP

2. Keep the gun pointed in a safe direction at all times!

until ready to shoot!

Springfield Armory U.S.A.

Everything forward of the gun is considered to be in the danger zone. Imagine a line extending to the direction of the gun. Make sure no one is standing in front of that line, even if they're out to the side.

Always sweeping this in front of you is a good habit. If you accidentally point it at someone, you'll know it and can stop it. Another person who is moving your body and not paying attention. Keep the gun pointed downward. Imagine that the gun is like a garden hose spraying water constantly and that you want to keep it forward just on yourself, or the ground.

EVERYONE STAND
BEHIND THIS LINE!

The slide makes sense with every slide, and every slide makes sense.

Everything forward of the prop is considered to be in the dead end zone. Imagine a line draw ed to the direction of the cur rent. Now you are standing in front of that line, even if they're off to the side.

about sweeping this is why you accidentally point at your seat or another student while making your body awkward and drawing attention. Keep the pen pointed downwards, making sure the pen is like a guide, not a tripod when writing. This keeps your writing consistently neat and that you want to keep it present and on point, or so your friend.

Let your index finger stay in contact on the side of the frame. But not touching the table. You should be able to see clear through the finger-guard. That way you'll know you're finger-safe.

Don't try to catch a falling gun; you might shoot your hand. Let it fall, modern guns will not fire when dropped.

- You should always assume all guns are loaded and ready to fire, even if you know otherwise; consistency in handling will develop good habits. And remember: conscientious firearms handling is just as much for putting people around you at ease as it is for your own personal safety.
