constrained by empirical evidence or is it a result of our ideology power authority and other social processes One theme which appears in many of the essays is that sociology has become too ideological and as a result has lost credibility among university administrators politicians and the general public Many of the essays also stress the view that there are very low levels of consensus in sociology and that it is hard to see evidence of progress Others criticize the discipline for not dealing with the really important social issues and see much of the work published as being parochial and trivial Questions are also raised about why the use of causal models has failed to generate solutions to most of the problems the discipline addresses Some authors believe that the discipline adheres to an overly rational model of human behavior and has failed to keep up with some of the advances introduced by post modernist theories This highly readable set of essays should be of interest to all those are concerned about the current state of sociology They will also be useful in introducing graduate students to some of the most important issues currently being debated in the field Stephen Cole is currently professor of sociology at the State University of New York at Stony Brook and professor of sociology at the University of Queensland Australia He is the author of Making Science Between Nature and Society and with Jonathan R Cole Social Stratification in Science Academic Callings Janice Angela Newson,Claire Polster,2010 What purpose should the university serve What are the true callings of academics In Academic Callings prominent Canadian scholars tackle these big questions and provide a timely survey of the state of the Canadian university With so much current interest in the university s role in the economy and so much emphasis on research tied to funding opportunities this volume seeks to revive the idea of the university as it has been and could be again a democratic institution committed to advancing critical thought and serving the public interest With contributions from diverse disciplines Classics to biology nursing to sociology Academic Callings aims to provoke a wide ranging conversation one that concerns everyone whether as members of academic communities or as citizens Contributors include Joel Bakan George Sefa Dei Barbara Godard Paul Hamel Dorothy Smith Nasrin Rahimieh Andrew Wernick and more than twenty others The Hidden Curriculum—Faculty-Made Tests in Science Sheila Tobias,Jacqueline Raphael,2013-06-29 This resource manual for college level science instructors reevaluates the role of testing in their curricula and describes innovative techniques pioneered by other teachers part I examines the effects of the following on lower division courses changes in exam content format and environment revisions in grading practices student response colleague reaction the sharing of new practices with other interested professionals and more The book includes a comprehensive introduction faculty composed narratives commentaries by well known science educators and a visual index to 100 more refined innovations Official Report, of the Student Curriculum Evaluation Committee, 1968-1969 University of Virginia.
