A Case Study on the Impact of Weblogs on the Writing of Low-Level Learners in the University of Chile Simon Higginson, 2011-06-01 Since the turn of the century the use of computer mediated communication CMC has become more widespread in educational contexts and weblogs blogs one of the more popular forms of CMC Bloch 2007 have been the focus of numerous studies However whilst these studies have listed the potential benefits of blog use for language learners few studies have offered any practical tips for educators who wish to implement the use of writing blogs in the EFL classroom Moreover the vast majority of studies have focused on the use of blogs with relatively high level learners in academic contexts This small scale study focuses on how the use of blogs impact on the writing of a group of low level learners in a tertiary EFL context in Chile Moreover it presents a tentative model to explain the different factors that contribute to writing development using weblogs as these learners grapple not only with a written code but with a linguistic code that is still being acquired Raimes 1985 232 The findings report that blogs have the potential to aid low level learners develop their L2 writing and a number of suggestions are made that may help practitioners facilitate the process

Writing Manuals for the Masses Anneleen Masschelein, Dirk de Geest, 2020-12-15 This open access collection of essays examines the literary advice industry since its emergence in Anglo American literary culture in the mid nineteenth century within the context of the professionalization of the literary field and the continued debate on creative writing as art and craft Often dismissed as commercial and stereotypical by authors and specialists alike literary advice has nonetheless remained a flourishing business embodying the unquestioned values of a literary system but also functioning as a sign of a literary system in transition Exploring the rise of new online amateur writing cultures in the twenty first century this collection of essays considers how literary advice proliferates globally leading to new forms and genres
