Twomey, 2020-09-15 In recent years the field has seen an increasing realisation that the full complexity of language acquisition demands theories that a explain how children integrate information from multiple sources in the environment b build linguistic representations at a number of different levels and c learn how to combine these representations in order to communicate effectively These new findings have stimulated new theoretical perspectives that are more centered on explaining learning as a complex dynamic interaction between the child and her environment This book is the first attempt to bring some of these new perspectives together in one place It is a collection of essays written by a group of researchers who all take an approach centered on child environment interaction and all of whom have been influenced by the work of Elena Lieven to whom this collection is dedicated treat mental health problems when we find them in preschoolers Psychological Treatment Approaches for Children and Their Families provides a comprehensive overview of 14 commonly available therapeutic interventions for children aged 3-5 years. It fills an important gap in a field where information about treatment options is limited compared with those suitable for older children and adolescents. The interventions presented are evidence based and reflect various research backgrounds and theories of change. They are grouped into four sections covering individual child treatments, parent focused approaches, dyadic carer child interventions and family systems models. Each section describes the models in a condensed yet comprehensive summary offering information on its evidence base, key concepts, stages of therapy, session structure, treatment effects and training options along with a case study example illustrating the therapy in practice. The structure allows the reader to decide what treatments can be used for what presenting problem and under what conditions. A set of exercise questions concludes the end of each chapter to encourage better theory practice links. The result is a text that provides ample opportunities for students and therapists to develop a knowledge base and understanding of how to best approach the treatment of psychological disorders in this age group. Edited and authored by a select group of experienced clinical psychologists and psychiatrists with a particular interest in paediatric clinical psychology, this text is relevant for students, therapists, trainers and supervisors, referrers, researchers and funding bodies as well as all those undergoing training in disciplines related to child development and clinical child psychology.
