after millennia of dormancy The sun was low a purplish orange fireball sitting on the surface of the ocean Even in the darkening evening light it took a while for his eyes to get adjusted But then they did Ben breathe It wasn't simply because it was the first time he was seeing her in direct light and her skin glowed like the volcanic rock attached to the blade in her hand It wasn't the way the sun hit her hair and he could make out all the different hues of blue that adorned each strand It wasn't even because the light behind her along with his still adjusting eyesight made her look carved in marble worthy of display in the Basilica of San Domenico It was her excitement It was the very first time he'd ever seen her with such breathlessness Flushed Vulnerable Reviews I could not put it down I loved Roux's straightforwardness and her ability to handle herself And I loved her pets Ben poor sweet Ben fell hopelessly in love He seemed halfway in love with her before he'd even laid eyes on her I have to say I was freaking AWED by this story To other IR writers take note This is how it is done I really hated to see this story end Truly a beautiful story I look forward to reading more from Ms Walker in the future

EXCERPT FROM BOOK Caden and Everly gazed at each other for several seconds. As if suddenly charged with magnetic impulses, their faces began to pull toward one another until they were connected at the tips of their noses. From there, their mouths slowly moved together and the circuit was formed. They began to kiss earnestly and bashfully at first, each feeling out the movements of the other's mouth. Caden marveled at how Everly's lips felt on his, almost electric, and then the kisses began to transform into something more intimate. Without warning, Everly pulled away. "I don't usually do this," she said slowly and perhaps slightly ashamed. "I cannot believe I'm doing this in fact. This violates just about every principle in the patient doctor handbook." Caden looked at her with a little smirk on his face. "Hey," he said. "You started it. Now that is not true." Everly said and slapped him playfully. "It was a mutual decision. I just searched her face looking for clues as to what she was going to say next. I just... As soon as you walked in here, actually, even as soon as you interrupted session with the other patient, I just... I don't know, felt this immense attraction to you." Everly paused and looked at Caden. Caden noted that this was the most vulnerable she'd been since they'd met less than an hour prior. He nodded. "I felt the same," he said. "As soon as I saw you when I barged in early, I thought to myself, Jesus, this is the most beautiful, no, the most powerful woman I've ever seen." He responded, "That's so sweet of you." Everly said, looking down bashfully. "But Jesus, this doesn't change the illegality of whatever the hell we're doing right now." She looked up into Caden's face, perhaps hoping that he'd affirm her reservations and tell her they had to stop, but as Caden saw when he looked even deeper into her eyes, she was hoping that he'd say they should throw caution to the wind. And Caden wasn't a man to exercise caution. "Fuck it," he said. "It's both of our jobs to contribute to the betterment of mankind. We lose pieces of ourselves in the process. It's only natural we'd wanna combine those pieces with each other." Where the hell was that coming from? Caden marveled at what he was saying; he was sounding downright poetic. AUTHOR'S NOTE: This is a stand-alone story with an HEA, so no cliffhangers. Story contains mature themes and language and is intended for 18+ readers only. I Will Always Love You (A BWWM Interracial Multiracial Romance) Book 2 Erica Storm, 2017-07-16 Tasha James is despondent after leaving Liam in Ireland, but she makes a promise to herself that when she completes her final semester in college, she will get a job and save to visit Liam O'Shea in Ireland, just to see if he meant what he said to her: "I will always love you." It may be naive on her part, but she believed him. The problem she's having now is trying to make changes in her life, and she can't forget Liam. When she stops at a pub in Manhattan on a Saturday night with her girlfriend Ashlee, the name written on the outside is O'Shea. She's certain this is just a coincidence until she's shocked to discover Liam in that bar, and with another woman. How could she think he meant what he said to her? A man like him, so good-looking and so handsome, couldn't possibly just want her, or could he? This is part 2 of a 3-part serial.
