Dear Mr. Thompson,

December 18, 2023

As a seasoned special education paraprofessional with 4.5 years under my belt and a sincere dedication to nurturing children, I'm confident I would bring unique skills and experiences to the Ransom Everglades School. Like the intricate art of sign language, I thrive in environments that challenge my ability to communicate sensitively and implement behavior management techniques and crisis intervention training.

As an experienced paraprofessional at Jose De Diego Middle School, I was deeply involved in managing the behavior of students with varying abilities— a process that required both skill and tact. My ability to defuse emerging crises reduced behavioral incidents by 18% within my first year. Consider me an individual who taps into the power of sign language to build bridges and quell storms.

Before Jose De Diego, I served as a crisis Interventionist at Morningside K-8 Academy. Here, I applied de-escalation procedures in high-intensity situations involving students with severe behavioral issues. My proactive approach saw a reduction in critical incidents by 19%, improving the overall classroom environment. Regular collaboration with therapists, teachers, and administration resulted in tailored intervention plans that met each student's unique needs.

Stepping slightly back, Miami Lakes Educational Center handed me my first opportunity to combine innovation with empathy. Serving non-verbal students with exceptionalities, I integrated sign language with assistive technology, including tools like Proloquo2Go and Boardmaker. This marrying of traditional and technological methods saw an incredible increase in student engagement, pushing the boundaries of effective learning.

I'm excited to bring my multifaceted skill set and passion for special education to Ransom Everglades School. Let's discuss how my experience in behavior management, crisis intervention, and more can further your mission to provide top-tier education for all students.

Thank you,

Stella Lefevre
