New chapters discuss the hacker mentality, social engineering and lock picking, exploiting P2P file sharing networks and how people manipulate search engines and pop up ads to obtain and use personal information. Wang also takes issue with the media for hacking the news and presenting the public with self-serving stories of questionable accuracy. Inside you'll discover how to manage and fight spam and spyware, how Trojan horse programs and rootkits work and how to defend against them, how hackers steal software and defeat copy protection mechanisms, how to tell if your machine is being attacked and what you can do to protect it, where the hackers are, how they probe a target and sneak into a computer and what they do once they get inside, how corporations use hacker techniques to infect your computer and invade your privacy, how you can lock down your computer to protect your data and your personal information using free programs. If you've ever logged onto a website, conducted an online transaction, sent or received email, used a networked computer or even watched the evening news, you may have already been tricked, tracked, hacked and manipulated.
