Since the love of her life betrayed her, Meg has had a hard time putting into practice her Hokey Pokey Theory of Life which demands that you put your whole self in. What's the point of opening yourself up if your heart comes back a little more broken each time? These days Meg and her nine year old son Henry are taking on the world in their own lively way and it's enough. Then Meg unexpectedly finds love in the form of an exotically handsome Iranian American who befriends her and Henry over a game of chess in a coffee shop. When Meg takes another leap of faith she begins to discover that in order to heal you have to hurt but most of all you have to live your life and put your whole self in. Arranging Marriage Marian Aguiar, 2018-01-02 The first critical analysis of contemporary arranged marriage among South Asians in a global context. Arranged marriage is an institution of global fascination, an object of curiosity, revulsion, outrage and even envy. Marian Aguiar provides the first sustained analysis of arranged marriage as a transnational cultural phenomenon revealing how its meaning has been continuously reinvented within the South Asian diaspora of Britain, the United States and Canada. Aguiar identifies and analyzes representations of arranged marriage in an interdisciplinary set of texts from literary fiction and Bollywood films to digital and print media to contemporary law and policy on forced marriage. Aguiar interprets depictions of South Asian arranged marriage to show we are in a moment of conjugal globalization, identifying how narratives about arranged marriage bear upon questions of consent, agency, state power and national belonging. Aguiar argues that these discourses illuminate deep divisions in the processes of globalization constructed on a fault line between individualist and collectivist agency and in the process critiques neoliberal celebrations of culture as choice that attempt to bridge that separation. Aguiar advocates situating arranged marriage discourses within their social and material contexts so as to see past reductive notions of culture and grasp the global forces mediating increasingly polarized visions of agency. MultiCultural Review, 2004 The New Wife Susan Shapiro Barash, 2004 Working Mother, 2003-08 The magazine that helps career moms balance their personal and professional lives The Publishers Weekly, 2005 Postcolonial Studies Pramod K. Nayar, 2015-09-28 This new anthology brings together the most diverse and recent voices in postcolonial theory to emerge since 9/11 alongside classic texts in established areas of postcolonial studies. Brings fresh insight and renewed political energy to established domains such as nation, history, literature and gender. Engages with contemporary concerns such as globalization, digital cultures, neo colonialism and language debates. Includes wide geographical coverage from Ireland and India to Israel and Palestine. Provides uniquely broad coverage offering a full sense of the tradition including significant essays on science, technology and development.
