Beyond the War on Invasive Species Tao Orion,2015-06-17 Invasive species are everywhere from forests and prairies to mountaintops and river mouths Their rampant nature and sheer numbers appear to overtake fragile native species and forever change the ecosystems that they depend on Concerns that invasive species represent significant threats to global biodiversity and ecological integrity permeate conversations from schoolrooms to board rooms and concerned citizens grapple with how to rapidly and efficiently manage their populations These worries have culminated in an ongoing war on invasive species where the arsenal is stocked with bulldozers chainsaws and herbicides put to the task of their immediate eradication In Hawaii mangrove trees Avicennia spp are sprayed with glyphosate and left to decompose on the sandy shorelines where they grow and in Washington helicopters apply the herbicide Imazapyr to smooth cordgrass Spartina alterniflora growing in estuaries The war on invasive species is in full swing but given the scope of such potentially dangerous and ecologically degrading eradication practices it is necessary to question the very nature of the battle Beyond the War on Invasive Species offers a much needed alternative perspective on invasive species and the best practices for their management based on a holistic permaculture inspired framework Utilizing the latest research and thinking on the changing nature of ecological systems Beyond the War on Invasive Species closely examines the factors that are largely missing from the common conceptions of invasive species including how the colliding effects of climate change habitat destruction and changes in land use and management contribute to their proliferation There is more to the story of invasive species than is commonly conceived and Beyond the War on Invasive Species offers ways of understanding their presence and ecosystem effects in order to make more ecologically responsible choices in land restoration and biodiversity conservation that address the root of the invasion phenomenon The choices we make on a daily basis the ways we procure food shelter water medicine and transportation are the major drivers of contemporary changes in ecosystem structure and function therefore deep and long lasting ecological restoration outcomes will come not just from eliminating invasive species but through conscientious redesign of these production systems Beyond the War on Invasive Species is a devastating expos of the military industrial invasive species complex and a sorely needed and impeccably researched volume that should become one of many as we recover from self destructive attempts to eradicate parts of nature instead of acting with an understanding of the whole Ben Falk author of The Resilient Farm and Homestead and founder of Whole Systems Design Treaties in Force ,2013 Proletarian Era

Civic Engagement in Food System Governance Alan R. Hunt, 2015-10-05 The local food movement is one of the most active of current civil engagement social movements This work presents primary evidence from over 900 documents interviews and participant observations and provides the first descriptive history of local food movement national policy achievements in the US from 1976 to 2013 and in the UK from 1991 to 2013 together with reviews of both the American and British local food movements It provides a US UK comparative context significantly updating earlier comparisons of American British and European farm and rural policies The comparative perspective shows that over time more effective strategies for national policy change required social movement building strategies such as collaborative policy coalitions capacity building for smaller organizations and policy entrepreneurship for joining together separate rural farming food and health interests In contrast narrowly defined single issue campaigns often undermined long term policy change even if short term wins emerged By profiling interviews of American and English movement leaders policymakers and funders the book demonstrates that democratic participation in food policy is best supported when funders incentivize groups to work together and overcome their differences
