Evolutionary Learning Algorithms for Neural Adaptive Control Dimitris C. Dracopoulos,2013-12-21 Evolutionary Learning Algorithms for Neural Adaptive Control is an advanced textbook which investigates how neural networks and genetic algorithms can be applied to difficult adaptive control problems which conventional results are either unable to solve or for which they can not provide satisfactory results It focuses on the principles involved rather than on the modelling of the applications themselves and therefore provides the reader with a good introduction to the fundamental issues involved
