

Chapter 1 Study Guide

Illicit drugs – a drug that is unlawful to possess or use. Many illicit drugs are available by prescription but become illicit when manufactured or sold illegally. Alcohol and tobacco are not considered illicit drugs, even when used by minors because of their wide-spread availability to adults. Household chemicals can take on characteristics of illicit substances when they are used to achieve a high.

Deviant drug use – drug use that is not common in a social group and disapproved by the majority, causing members of the group to take corrective action (either formal or informal) when it occurs. Some kinds of drug use are deviant to the society at large, but accepted in certain sub-cultures.

Addiction – a controversial and complex term that varies in meaning for different people. Because of its widespread controversial use, it's difficult to define it in scientific terms.

Gateway drugs – one of the first drugs used by a typical drug user. Alcohol & tobacco = most common.

No drug is good or bad, per se. However, the tendency for dependence and the amount used matter.

Risk factors associated with marijuana use by adolescents

Drug misuse – typically refers to the use of prescription drugs in amounts or for purposes other than those that have been recommended. Also applies to the use of household chemicals to achieve a high or for purposes not intended by the manufacturer.

Dependence – a state in which an individual uses a drug so frequently and consistently that it would be difficult for them to get along without using the drug. They may experience withdrawal symptoms.
