1. Batholiths - Yosemite National Park, CA. Yosemite National Park provides spectacular glaciated exposures of the Sierra Nevada batholith. The batholith is composed of many separate plutons, which intruded into the area as part of a Mesozoic-age subduction system. The Problem 1 placemark flies you to the spectacular Half Dome in Yosemite National Park. Given that it is part of an intrusive batholith, what type of rock texture would you expect to see at Half Dome?
  - a. fine-grained
  - b. coarse-grained
  - c. glassy
  - d. fragmental
2. Batholiths - Yosemite National Park, CA. Visitors commonly note the rounded appearance of the back side of Half Dome. It was not polished by glaciers, but rather fractured off in sheets much like how one might peel layers from an onion. This process occurs because these rocks formed at ~20-25 km depth, but have experienced a removal of confining pressure because they are now exposed at the surface (think of how a sponge expands once you remove your hands pressing down on it). What is this process called? (Hint: Look these words up in a glossary.)
  - a. stoping
  - b. assimilation
  - c. fractional crystallization
  - d. exfoliation
3. Batholiths - Sierra Nevada Mountains, CA. Turn on the North America Batholiths overlay. You will see the exposed batholiths of the western United States in a red-brown color. Using the transparency slider at the bottom of the Places panel, make the overlay semi-transparent. To get a sense of the size of the Sierra Nevada batholith, determine its length between the Problem 3 placemarks using the Ruler tool (in km).
  - a. 100-130 km
  - b. 300-340 km
  - c. 700-720 km
  - d. 1000-1030 km
