Landscape Of A Challenged Life:

Landscape Design and the Challenge of Nature Hettie Pisters, 2002

Ecosystem Function in Heterogeneous

Landscapes Gary M. Lovett, Clive G. Jones, Monica G. Turner, Kathleen C. Weathers, 2007-12-21 Among the most difficult problems in the life sciences is the challenge to understand the details of how ecosystems watersheds landscapes function Yet the welfare of all life not just the human species depends upon the successful functioning of diverse and complicated ecosystems each with various dimensions and compositions Central to this working is the dominance and to a major extent control of ecosystems by organisms which means that these systems are constantly changing as the component organisms change and evolve Such changes increase the challenge to understand the functioning of ecosystems and landscapes Moreover understanding the interactions among the myriad components of these systems is mind boggling as there are scores of biotic probably many thousands of species when the microbial components are fully enumerated through genomics and countless abiotic ions molecules and compounds entities all simultaneously interacting and responding to diverse external factors to produce functional or dysfunctional environments for life This book focuses on the problems of connectedness and ecosystem functioning It is difficult enough to understand how an ecosystem functions when it is considered in isolation but all ecosystems are open and connected to everything else Clearly the inputs to any ecosystem are the outputs from others and vice versa and as such the fluxes represent major if not critical points for managing or changing the overall functioning of an ecosystem or landscape A major challenge is to find appropriate conceptual frameworks to address these complicated problems

Computer Games As Landscape Art Peter Nelson, 2023-08-31 This book proposes that computer games are the paradigmatic form of contemporary landscape and offers a synthesis of art history geography game studies and play Like paint on canvas the game engine is taken as the underlying medium and using the Valve Source Engine as the primary case study it analyses landscapes according to the technical economic and cultural features this medium affords It presents the single player first person shooter Half Life 2 as a Promethean safari examines how the economics of gambling and product placement shaped the eSports landscapes of Counter Strike and reveals how sandboxes such as Garry's Mod visualise the radical landscape of Web 2.0 This book explores how our relationship to the environment is changing how we express this through computer games and how we can move beyond examining artistic influences on games to examining how historical connections flow through games and the history of landscape images

Transdisciplinary Challenges in Landscape Ecology and Restoration Ecology - An Anthology Zev Naveh, 2007-06-06 Capitalizing on forty years of intensive ecological studies this anthology presents a collection of widely dispersed major publications on theoretical and practical Mediterranean global environmental and landscape issues Each chapter features a comprehensive study of ecological and landscape issues synthesized in the introduction and woven with autobiographical experiences The concluding chapter calls for a transdisciplinary shift in all environmental scientific fields and particularly in landscape and restoration ecology to cope with the complex closely interwoven ecological socio economical political and cultural crises facing human society during the present crucial transition from the industrial to the post industrial global information age Updating and broadening the scope of the groundbreaking Springer book on Landscape Theory and Applications by the author and Lieberman 1994 this is a unique transdisciplinary attempt based on advanced systems complexity theories which link the natural and human sciences
