Resources in Education , 1998 Focus on Reading Walch Publishing, 2002 Thinking and Learning through Children's Literature Miriam G. Martinez, Junko Yokota, Charles Temple, 2017-04-18 Much of teachers attention these days is focused on having students read closely to ferret out the author's intended meaning and the devices used to convey that meaning But we cannot forget to guide students to have moving engagements with literature because they need to make strong personal connections to books of merit if they are to become the next generation of readers literate people with awareness of and concern for the diversity of human beings around them and in different times and places Fortunately guiding both students personal engagement with literature and their close reading to appreciate the author's message and craft are not incompatible goals This book enthusiastically and intelligently addresses both imperatives first surveying what is gained when students are immersed in literature then celebrating and explicating the main features of literature students need to understand to broaden their tastes and deepen their engagement at the same time they meet external standards then presenting a host of active methods for exploring all major genres of children's books and finally presenting suggestions for interdisciplinary teaching units grounded in literature Created by noted leaders in the fields of children's literature and literacy the book is enlivened by recurring features such as suggested reading lists issues for discussion links to technology and annotations of exemplary books Students' Identities and Literacy Learning Sarah J. McCarthey, Ira, 2013-09-13 Educators will find in this book an opportunity to examine the multiple dynamic identities of the students they instruct and to consider the ways in which all teachers and students are shaped by their social and cultural settings The volume is the first to examine theories of identity and elementary literacy practices by presenting data in a teacher friendly format The chapters highlight the influences of school and to some extent home contexts on students identities as readers and writers and give numerous implications for practice McCarthy collected data from three sites in which teachers implemented writing workshop and literature based instruction in grades 3-6. This book focuses on the students in these sites who were from diverse cultural and social backgrounds. By providing information about the contexts in which students read and wrote, McCarthy demonstrates the power of the teacher-student relationship, the importance of the classroom curriculum, and the influence of parents and peers on students. Published by International Reading Association. Handbook of Instructional Practices for Literacy Teacher-educators Joyce E. Many, 2001-01-01. This volume offers a unique glimpse into the teaching approaches and thinking of a wide range of well-known literacy researchers and the lessons they have learned from their own teaching lives. The contributors teach in a variety of universities, programs, and settings. Each shares an approach he or she has used in a course and introduces the syllabus for this course through personal reflections that give the reader a sense of the theories, prior experiences, and influential authors that have shaped their own thoughts and approaches. In addition to describing the nature of their students and the program in which the course is taught, many authors also share key issues with which they have grappled over the years while teaching their course; others discuss considerations that were relevant during the preparation of this particular syllabus or describe how it evolved in light of student input. The book is organized by areas within literacy education: reading, English language arts, literature, emergent literacy, content area literacy, literacy assessment, and instruction, literacy and technology, and inquiries into literacy theory and classroom practice. It is accompanied by an interactive Web site: <http://msit.gsu.edu/handbook>. This online resource provides additional information about the authors' courses, including complete syllabi, recommended readings, grading rubrics, and sample assignments. Readers are invited to respond and contribute their own syllabi and teaching experiences to the discourse generated by the volume. From Curiosity to Deep Learning Julie Coiro, Elizabeth Dobler, Karen Pelekis, 2023-10-10. From Curiosity to Deep Learning: Personal Digital Inquiry in Grades K-5 reveals the powerful learning that results when you integrate purposeful technology into a classroom culture that values curiosity and deep learning. The centerpiece of this practical guide is Personal Digital Inquiry (PDI), a framework developed by Julie Coiro and implemented in classrooms by her co-authors, Elizabeth Dobler and Karen Pelekis. Clear, detailed examples offer ideas for K-5 teachers and school librarians to support their teaching. Personal emphasizes the significance of the personal relationship between teachers and students and the role that students have in the learning process. Digital reflects the important role that digital texts and tools have come to play in both learning and teaching with inquiry. Inquiry lies at the core of PDI because learners grow and change with opportunities to identify problems, generate personal wonderings, and engage in collaborative dialogue, making learning relevant and lasting. From Curiosity to Deep Learning: Personal Digital Inquiry in Grades K-5 shows you how to integrate inquiry with a range of digital tools and resources that will create a dynamic classroom for both you and your students. Children's Literature as Communication Roger D. Sell, 2002-10-10. In this book, members of the ChiLPA Project explore the children's literature of several different cultures ranging from ancient India nineteenth century Russia and the Soviet Union to twentieth century Britain America Australia Sweden and Finland The research covers not only the form and content of books for children but also their potential social functions especially within education These two perspectives are brought together within a theory of children s literature as one among other forms of communication an approach that sees the role of literary scholars critics and teachers as one of mediation Part I deals with the way children s writers and picturebook makers draw on a culture s available resources of orality literacy intertextuality and image Part II examines their negotiation of major issues such as the child adult distinction gender politics and the Holocaust Part III discusses children s books as used within language education programmes with particular attention to young readers pragmatic processing of differences between the context of writing and their own context of reading
