Peter Kloosterman, Doris Mohr, Crystal Walcott, 2015-09-01 This volume is intended for researchers curriculum developers policy makers and classroom teachers who want comprehensive information on what students at grades 4 8 and 12 the grades assessed by NAEP can and cannot do in mathematics After two introductory chapters on the design of NAEP the volume contains a chapter on the challenges in analyzing NAEP data at the item level followed by five chapters that report 2005 through 2013 student performance on specific assessment items These chapters are organized by content area and then by topic e g understanding of place value knowledge of transformations ability to use metric and U S systems of measurement and thus provide baseline data on the proportion of students who are able to complete the mathematics tasks currently used in the upper elementary middle and high school mathematics curriculum Additional chapters focus on student reasoning U S performance on international assessments and using construct analysis rather than percent correct on clusters of items to understand student knowledge on specific mathematics topics Several themes emerge from the volume One is that while the rate of improvement in mathematics learning in grades 4 and 8 has slowed in recent years it has slowed more on some topics than others Another is that relatively minor changes in wording can have significant effects on student performance and thus it is difficult to be specific about what students can do without knowing exactly what questions they were asked A third theme is that changes in performance over time can sometimes but not always be understood in terms of what students are taught For example there were substantial gains on several grade 4 items requiring understanding of fractions and that is probably because the amount of instruction on fractions in grades 3 and 4 has been increasing In contrast while relatively few twelfth grade students have ever been good at factoring trinomials performance on this skill seems to be decreasing This suggests that while more students are completing advanced mathematics courses in high school these courses are not helping in the area of factoring trinomials Finally there are limitations to using NAEP as a measure of student performance on the Common Core State Standards To the extent that NAEP can be used however the NAEP data show a substantial gap between expectations and performance      Standards Based Education Resource Kit for Colorado School Districts, Fall 1994 ,1994      How Do You Know They Know what They Know? Teresa M. Moon, 1997      The Software Encyclopedia 2000 Bowker Editorial Staff, 2000-05      The Metric Versus the English System of Measurement in the Teaching of Arithmetic Harvey Julius Holt, 1929      Measuring - Grade 4 Workbook Maria Miller, 2016-01-02 Measuring Grade 4 Workbook includes lessons on temperature length weight and volume The focus is on conversions between the units and on word problems that involve conversions Students may have difficulty with the conversions and that is why they should also be studied in 5th grade At this point students should be able to easily convert from a bigger unit to a smaller unit such as converting 3 feet into 36 inches or 2 kg into 2 000 grams While the Common Core standards do not include them for 4th grade I have also included some problems where we convert from a smaller unit to a bigger unit such as 4 500 ml into 4 L

500 ml or 12 feet into 4 yards because I feel most children are capable of doing these in 4th grade If you feel your child has difficulty with these types of conversions from a smaller unit to a bigger unit feel free to omit those particular exercises They are intermixed though and not marked in any special way There are separate lessons for customary units and for metric units These lessons include a chart that lists the units and the conversion factors For metric units those charts always include all the units even when they are not in common usage For example one lesson only deals with milliliters and liters However the chart in that lesson also shows the two other units deciliters and centiliters in order to help familiarize the students with these two basic ideas of the metric system The units always differ by a factor of ten The units are named consistently with the same prefixes milli centi deci deka hecto and kilo These prefixes and their meanings are not yet studied in detail in fourth grade You may of course at your discretion explain them to the student
