

5. Observing class members shared a classroom during conference and participants received the book and their reflections were incorporated in the design/development of the curriculum. Thus, the initial, ongoing consultation process of this project, which began a month before the conference, during which the initial group of 10 class members shared the book, continued after the conference. The design/development of the project, therefore, was fluid, allowing the students to identify leading problems and issues that influenced themselves.

5. Subscribers need clear, concise communication regarding subscription services that customers can access online. Two focus group sessions were conducted by telephone, lasting approximately one hour each. Each session included a brief overview of the study's purpose, a discussion of current research on the importance of the customer's role in the subscription service, and a discussion of the study's objectives. The sessions were conducted in a confidential setting, and the results of the sessions were not shared with the participants.

8. Journal Quarterly (Chicago) is a fine magazine that states, "History is the memory of the world." It also recognizes the necessity of the past's critical, creative, political and personal reinterpretation today. The authorship is as diverse as the past represented.

18. "After one or two years in the laboratory, they [the researchers] proceeded to give wild female baboons artificial females to," White again explains. "Based on their earlier research, White anticipated that the baboons would become attached to their artificial females, and that the baboons' parents and other males would then take the place of one of the mothers. The researchers failed to test this hypothesis. They again anticipated that when the subjects are rearing to and separate from their artificial mothers, the subjects' behavior will follow the same pattern as observed in the wild."
