Alred, Charles T. Brusaw, Walter E. Oliu, 2012 Combining guidance for writing over 40 types of professional documents with thorough coverage of grammar usage and style the Handbook of Technical Writing functions as both a writer's handbook and a complete guide to technical communication It provides quick access to hundreds of topics and scores of sample documents and visuals publisher's note Routledge Encyclopedia of Translation Technology Chan Sin-wai, 2023-04-26 Routledge Encyclopedia of Translation Technology second edition provides a state of the art survey of the field of computer assisted translation It is the first definitive reference to provide a comprehensive overview of the general regional and topical aspects of this increasingly significant area of study The Encyclopedia is divided into three parts Part 1 presents general issues in translation technology such as its history and development translator training and various aspects of machine translation including a valuable case study of its teaching at a major university Part 2 discusses national and regional developments in translation technology offering contributions covering the crucial territories of China Canada France Hong Kong Japan South Africa Taiwan the Netherlands and Belgium the United Kingdom and the United States Part 3 evaluates specific matters in translation technology with entries focused on subjects such as alignment concordancing localization online translation and translation memory The new edition has five additional chapters with many chapters updated and revised drawing on the expertise of over 50 contributors from around the world and an international panel of consultant editors to provide a selection of chapters on the most pertinent topics in the discipline All the chapters are self contained extensively cross referenced and include useful and up to date references and information for further reading It will be an invaluable reference work for anyone with a professional or academic interest in the subject Metalanguages for Dissecting Translation Processes Rei Miyata, Masaru Yamada, Kyo Kageura, 2022-07-04 This edited volume covers the development and application of metalanguages for concretely describing and communicating translation processes in practice In a modern setting of project based translation it is crucial to bridge the gaps between various actors involved in the translation process especially among clients translation service providers TSPs translators and technology developers However we have been confronted with the lack of common understanding among them about the notion and detailed mechanisms of translation Against this backdrop we are developing systematic fine grained metalanguages that are designed to describe and analyse translation processes in concrete terms Underpinned by the rich accumulation of theoretical findings in translation studies and established standards of practical translation services such as ISO 17100 our metalanguages extensively cover the core processes in translation projects namely project management source document analysis translation and revision Gathering authors with diverse backgrounds and expertise this book proffers the fruits of the contributors collaborative endeavour it not only provides practicable metalanguages but also reports on wide ranging case studies on the application of metalanguages in practical and pedagogical scenarios This book supplies concrete guidance for those who are involved in the translation practices and translation training education In addition to being of practical use the metalanguages reflect explication of the translation process As such this book provides essential insights for researchers and students in the field of translation studies The up to date versions of the metalanguages related materials and the corrigendum for the book content are available on our project website <https://tntc-project.github.io>

Controlled Document Authoring in a Machine Translation Age Rei Miyata, 2020-10-29 This book explains the concept framework implementation and evaluation of controlled document authoring in this age of translation technologies Machine translation MT is routinely used in many situations by companies governments and individuals Despite recent advances MT tools are still known to be imperfect sometimes producing critical errors To enhance the performance of MT researchers and language practitioners have developed controlled languages that impose restrictions on the form or length of the source language text However a fundamental persisting problem is that both current MT systems and controlled languages deal only with the sentence as the unit of processing To be effective controlled languages must be contextualised at the document level consequently enabling MT to generate outputs appropriate for their functional context within the target document With a specific focus on Japanese municipal documents this book establishes a framework for controlled document authoring by integrating various research strands including document formalisation controlled language and terminology management It then presents the development and evaluation of an authoring support system MuTUAL that is designed to help non professional writers create well organised documents that are both readable and translatable The book provides useful insights for researchers and practitioners interested in translation technology technical writing and natural language processing applications Chapter 1 the Preface and Bibliography of this book are freely available as downloadable Open Access PDFs at <http://www.taylorfrancis.com> under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives CC BY NC ND 4.0 license
