Igusa's p -Adic Local Zeta Function and the Monodromy Conjecture for Non-Degenerate Surface Singularities Bart Bries, Willem Veys, 2016-06-21 In 2011 Lemahieu and Van Proeyen proved the Monodromy Conjecture for the local topological zeta function of a non degenerate surface singularity The authors start from their work and obtain the same result for Igusa's p -adic and the motivic zeta function In the p -adic case this is for a polynomial $f \in \mathbb{Z}[x, y, z]$ satisfying $f(0,0,0) = 0$ and non degenerate with respect to its Newton polyhedron we show that every pole of the local p -adic zeta function of f induces an eigenvalue of the local monodromy of f at some point of $f^{-1}(0)$ close to the origin Essentially the entire paper is dedicated to proving that for f as above certain candidate poles of Igusa's p -adic zeta function of f arising from so called B_1 facets of the Newton polyhedron of f are actually not poles This turns out to be much harder than in the topological setting The combinatorial proof is preceded by a study of the integral points in three dimensional fundamental parallelepipeds Together with the work of Lemahieu and Van Proeyen this main result leads to the Monodromy Conjecture for the p -adic and motivic zeta function of a non degenerate surface singularity The Scientific Journal Alex Csiszar, 2018-06-25 Not since the printing press has a media object been as celebrated for its role in the advancement of knowledge as the scientific journal From open communication to peer review the scientific journal has long been central both to the identity of academic scientists and to the public legitimacy of scientific knowledge But that was not always the case At the dawn of the nineteenth century academies and societies dominated elite study of the natural world Journals were a relatively marginal feature of this world and sometimes even an object of outright suspicion The Scientific Journal tells the story of how that changed Alex Csiszar takes readers deep into nineteenth century London and Paris where savants struggled to reshape scientific life in the light of rapidly changing political mores and the growing importance of the press in public life The scientific journal did not arise as a natural solution to the problem of communicating scientific discoveries Rather as Csiszar shows its dominance was a hard won compromise born of political exigencies shifting epistemic values intellectual property debates and the demands of commerce Many of the tensions and problems that plague scholarly publishing today are rooted in these tangled beginnings As we seek to make sense of our own moment of intense experimentation in publishing platforms peer review and information curation Csiszar argues powerfully that a better understanding of the journal's past will be crucial to imagining future forms for the expression and organization of knowledge Curvature: A Variational Approach A. Agrachev, D.

Barilari, L. Rizzi, 2019-01-08 The curvature discussed in this paper is a far reaching generalization of the Riemannian sectional curvature. The authors give a unified definition of curvature which applies to a wide class of geometric structures whose geodesics arise from optimal control problems including Riemannian, sub Riemannian, Finsler and sub Finsler spaces. Special attention is paid to the sub Riemannian or Carnot-Carathéodory metric spaces. The authors' construction of curvature is direct and naive and similar to the original approach of Riemann. In particular they extract geometric invariants from the asymptotics of the cost of optimal control problems. Surprisingly it works in a very general setting and in particular for all sub Riemannian spaces.

Integer Programming and Related Areas C. Kastning, 2013-11-11 Integer Programming is one of the most fascinating and difficult areas in the field of Mathematical Optimization. Due to this fact, notable research contributions to Integer Programming have been made in very different branches of mathematics and its applications. Since these publications are scattered over many journals, proceedings, volumes, monographs and working papers, a comprehensive bibliography of all these sources is a helpful tool even for specialists in this field. I initiated this compilation of literature in 1970 at the Institut für Konometrie und Operations Research, University of Bonn. Since then many collaborators have contributed to and worked on it. Among them, Dipl. Math. Claus Kastning has done the bulk of the work. With great perseverance and diligence he has gathered all the material and checked it with the original sources. The main aim was to incorporate rare and not easily accessible sources like Russian journals, preprints or unpublished papers. Without the invaluable and dedicated engagement of Claus Kastning, the bibliography would never have reached this final version. For this reason, he must be considered its responsible editor. As with any other collection, this literature list has a subjective viewpoint and may be in some sense incomplete. We have however tried to be as complete as possible. The bibliography contains 4704 different publications by 6767 authors which were classified by 11839 descriptor entries.

Failure Up Close Jay P. Greene, Michael Q. McShane, 2018-01-17 For many reasons, failure in education reform is rarely admitted. Even though it is incredibly hard work to try and improve the enormous and diverse American education system because there are political consequences of admitting that a particular effort did not live up to its promises and pressure from philanthropic funders to show success, unsuccessful efforts are often swept under the rug or papered over with public relations efforts that avoid wrestling with the tough realities of educational improvement. This doesn't help anyone. As any educator will tell you, failure is an essential part of learning. Insofar as education reform needs to be a learning movement itself, it has to be able to admit where it has failed and learn from it. Failure Up Close engages a select group of scholars from across the ideological spectrum to examine particular education reform efforts of recent years that have not succeeded and offer lessons for school and system improvement that can be learned from them. Rather than view failure as negative, this volume looks at failure as an opportunity to learn and grow. In fact, the editors endeavored to find authors that would analyze reforms for which they had some fundamental sympathy The goal is not to bash particular efforts or castigate their supporters but rather to help those supporters understand how to do what they do better and ultimately do better for children
