A;

Conversion of only the slant to a pink color in a Christensen's urea agar slant is produced by bacterial species that have weak urease activity. The reaction in the slant to the right is often produced by Klebsiella species, as an example. Strong urease activity is indicated by conversion of the slant and the butt of the tube to a pink color, as seen in the tube to the left. The slant only reaction in the right tube may be seen early on if only the slant had been inoculated; however, with a strong urease producer, both the slant and the butt would turn. Therefore, the reaction is dependent on the strength of urease activity. If the media had outdated for a prolonged period, either there would be no reaction or the appearance of only a faint pink tinge, either in the slant, the butt or both, again depending on the strength of urease production by the unknown organism.

- The urease reaction seen in the Christensen's urea agar slant on the far right indicates:

- A. Weak activity
- B. Strong activity
- C. Slant only inoculated
- D. Use of outdated medium

D;

The steps in the PCR process are:

1. Denaturation (Turning double stranded DNA into single strands.)
2. Annealing/Hybridization (Attachment of primers to the single DNA strands.)
3. Extension (Creating the complementary strand to produce new double stranded DNA.)

- What is the first step of the PCR reaction?

- A. Hybridization
- B. Extension
- C. Annealing
