QUESTION 3

- 3.1 Read the passage below and answer the questions that follow.

Peat lands are special wetlands that play a very important role in ecology. A peat land, of approximately 6 000 years old, near Mafikeng is almost destroyed because of excessive extraction of water from the nearby Molepo river. The water is extracted for human consumption.

Peat lands like the one near Mafikeng is exceptional and play an important role in storing water as well as preventing climate changes.

Dr Phil-Louis Grundling said that carbon that is 'held' or 'stored' by peat lands combats climate change because it decreases the amount of carbon in the atmosphere.

Peat lands trap about one third of the world's carbon. Approximately 50% of wetlands worldwide are peat lands. However in South Africa about 10% of the wetlands are peat lands.

Grundling explained that peat lands can hold about 1 000 times its own mass in water. This replenishes the water table and is the source that keeps streams flowing. The "sponge effect" of the peat also makes it possible to store water that is then released during dry seasons.

Dr Grundling said that it might be too late to restore the peat land near Mafikeng but it might be possible to restore some parts of it if more water is supplied to this peat land.

The result of this destruction is depletion of the water table. The habitat of numerous fish and frog species that lived in this peat land was also destroyed.

From: Beeld, 24 September 2016.

- 3.1.1 Give TWO other reasons (not mentioned in the passage) that can lead to the destruction of wetlands. (2)
- 3.1.2 Discuss reasons from the passage regarding the importance of these specific wetlands for the environment. (4)
- 3.1.3 Suggest a way in which this peat land near Mafikeng can be restored. (2)

Darwin's Devices John Long, 2012-04-03 What happens when we let robots play the game of life? Darwin's Devices Long tells the story of these evolving biorobots how they came to be and what they can teach us about the biology of living and extinct species Evolving biorobots can replicate creatures that disappeared from the earth long ago showing us in real time what happens in the face of unexpected environmental challenges Biomechanically correct models of backbones functioning as part of an autonomous robot for example can help us understand why the first vertebrates evolved them But the most impressive feature of these robots as Long shows is their ability to illustrate the power of evolution to solve difficult technological challenges autonomously without human input regarding what a workable solution might be Even a simple robot can create complex behavior often learning or evolving greater intelligence than humans could possibly program This
