Section A

Answer all the questions in this section. All questions carry 10 marks.

Hydrology and fluvial geomorphology

1 Table 1 gives some data for two river catchments located in similar temperate climates.

(a) What percentage of average annual rainfall occurs as runoff in:

(i) River A: [1]

(ii) River B? [1]

River A is 60%

River B is 70%

(b) What is the difference between the maximum and minimum recorded flows in:

(i) River A: [1]

(ii) River B? [1]

River A is 150.1 cumecs

River B is 35.8 cumecs

(c) Using the evidence in Table 1, explain which of the rivers you think is more likely to produce floods in response to a storm event. [4]

The flashier regime is that of River A as the range of flows is so much higher than that of River B. Also the basin area is slightly smaller which could produce a quicker passage of water to the main channel although the average rainfall is given as the same. The main reason, however, is due to the different geologies. Sandstone and shale are less permeable than limestone, hence giving rise to more overland flow, particularly during intense rainfall (i.e. 60% of all ppt). Limestone allows a greater amount of percolation, thus more water reaches the river via baseflow (only 70 % as runoff) giving a more regular flow throughout the year, and a lower difference between minimum and maximum flows.

Strengthening Coastal Planning David G. Groves, Jordan R. Fischbach, Debra Knopman, David R. Johnson, Kate Giglio, 2014-02-19 This report highlights RAND's contributions to the Louisiana Coastal Protection and Restoration Authority's Master Plan. Its purpose is to help policymakers in other coastal regions understand the value of a solid technical foundation to support decisionmaking on strategies to reduce flood risk, rebuild or restore coastal environments and increase the resilience of developed coastal regions.

Rural Transitions to Higher Education in South Africa Sue Timmis, Thea de Wet, Kibashini Naidoo, Sheila Trahar, Lisa Lucas, Emmanuel Mfanafuthi Mqgqwashu, Patricia Muhuro, Gina Wisker, 2021-09-14 This unique and timely book focuses on research conducted into the experiences of students from rural backgrounds in South Africa, foregrounding decolonial perspectives on their negotiation of access and transitions to higher education. This book highlights not only the challenges of coming from a rural background against the historical backdrop of apartheid and ongoing colonialism but also shows the immense assets that students from rural areas bring into higher education. Through detailed narratives created by student co-researchers, the book charts early experiences in rural communities, negotiations of transitions to university and in many cases to urban life, and students' subsequent journeys through higher education spaces and curricula. The book will be of significant interest and value to those engaged in rurality research across diverse settings, those interested in the South African higher education context, and higher education more widely. Its innovative participatory methodology will be invaluable to researchers seeking to conduct collaborative research that draws on decolonising approaches.

Handbook of Research on Achieving Sustainable Development Goals With Sustainable Marketing Gigaauri, Iza, Palazzo, Maria, Ferri, Maria Antonella, 2023-06-26 The prominent idea of sustainable development has influenced almost all disciplines, changing our understanding and behavior toward sustainability. In this respect, marketing has also been transforming from the sustainability point of view as emerging social and ecological problems caused by the exponential growth require sustainable solutions and joint efforts. Sustainable marketing intends to integrate ecological, social, and ethical concerns while creating value. Consumers, along with other stakeholders, expect that brands will contribute to work toward the sustainable development goals; therefore, companies need to redesign their marketing initiatives to create, promote, and deliver values that are in line with sustainability. The Handbook of Research on Achieving Sustainable Development Goals With Sustainable Marketing illuminates current developments in sustainable marketing and the new trends and tendencies concerning the concept in theory and practice. The book also explores the concept of sustainable marketing in today's context of the digital age, explains its boundaries and benefits, and describes the challenges and opportunities as well as the advantages and potential disadvantages of sustainable marketing and branding efforts. Covering key topics such as branding, marketing ethics, and corporate social responsibility, this premier reference source is ideal for marketers, business owners, managers, industry professionals, researchers, academicians, scholars, practitioners, instructors, and students.

Attack Evangelism Greg Koehn, 2014-04-01 This book was originally written as a training manual for evangelism but then developed into a study of our salvation The presentation of the gospel is simple so that even a child can understand it and believe it But it is not enough to give a simple presentation in order for us to defend the faith in this postmodern world we need to understand the gospel and its implications for our world Our Christian imperative is to make disciples of the people groups of the world beginning with where we are and then moving out to the uttermost parts of the world Culture will only change when people change and they will change only when that change occurs from the inside out To believe on the Lord Jesus Christ is to be born again a person changed by the Spirit of God from the inside out The Church is God's ordained institution on earth but the Church spends too much time on the inside the time has come to get off our seat onto our feet and into the street In view of our postmodern world passive evangelism is not the answer it is time to attack
