Social Evolution and Inclusive Fitness Theory James A.R. Marshall, 2019-01-08 Social behavior has long puzzled evolutionary biologists since the classical theory of natural selection maintains that individuals should not sacrifice their own fitness to affect that of others Social Evolution and Inclusive Fitness Theory argues that a theory first presented in 1963 by William D Hamilton inclusive fitness theory provides the most fundamental and general explanation for the evolution and maintenance of social behavior in the natural world James Marshall guides readers through the vast and confusing literature on the evolution of social behavior introducing and explaining the competing theories that claim to provide answers to questions such as why animals evolve to behave altruistically Using simple statistical language and techniques that practicing biologists will be familiar with he provides a comprehensive yet easily understandable treatment of key concepts and their repeated misinterpretations Particular attention is paid to how more realistic features of behavior such as nonadditivity and conditionality can complicate analysis Marshall highlights the general problem of identifying the underlying causes of evolutionary change and proposes fruitful approaches to doing so in the study of social evolution Social Evolution and Inclusive Fitness Theory describes how inclusive fitness theory addresses both simple and complex social scenarios the controversies surrounding the theory and how experimental work supports the theory as the most powerful explanation for social behavior and its evolution Cases on Informal Learning for Science and Mathematics Education Sun, Li, Lin, Cheng-Yao, 2025-04-17 Many educators face the challenge of engaging students in science and mathematics often struggling to bridge the gap between theoretical concepts taught in classrooms and their real world applications This disconnect can lead to disinterest and disengagement among students hindering their learning outcomes Cases on Informal Learning for Science and Mathematics Education offers a solution to this problem by showcasing how informal learning experiences can significantly enhance students understanding and engagement in these subjects This book demonstrates the potential of informal learning to support and complement formal classroom instruction by presenting a rich collection of case studies It highlights how activities such as cooking budgeting visiting museums and participating in after school math clubs can serve as valuable informal learning experiences that deepen students understanding of science and mathematics concepts The book also addresses the challenge of recognizing the value of informal knowledge in problem solving offering insights and strategies for educators to help students leverage their informal learning experiences Beyond the Skills Gap Matthew T. Hora, 2019-01-02 2018 Frederic W Ness Book Award AAC U How can educators ensure that young people who attain a postsecondary credential are adequately prepared for the future Matthew T Hora and his colleagues explain that the answer is not simply that students need more specialized technical training to meet narrowly defined employment opportunities Beyond the Skills Gap challenges this conception of the skills gap highlighting instead the value of broader twenty first century skills in postsecondary education They advocate for a system in which employers share responsibility along with the education sector to serve the collective needs of the economy society and students Drawing on interviews with educators in two and four year institutions and employers in the manufacturing and biotechnology sectors the authors demonstrate the critical importance of habits of mind such as problem solving teamwork and communication They go on to show how faculty and program administrators can create active learning experiences that develop students skills across a range of domains The book includes in depth descriptions of eight educators whose classrooms exemplify the effort to blend technical learning with the cultivation of twenty first century habits of mind The study set in Wisconsin takes place against the backdrop of heated political debates over the role of public higher education This thoughtful and nuanced account enriched by keen observations of postsecondary instructional practice promises to contribute new insights to the rich literature on workforce development and to provide valuable guidance for postsecondary faculty and administrators Empirical Research at a Distance: New Methods for Developmental Science Dima Amso, Rhodri Cusack, Lisa Oakes, Sho Tsuji, Natasha Kirkham, 2022-06-15 Models, Measurement, and Metrology Extending the SI William P. Fisher, Jr., Leslie Pendrill, 2024-09-23 The book focuses on the extension of quality assured measurement and metrology into psychological and social domains This is not only feasible and achievable but also a pressing concern Significant progress in developing a common conceptual system for measurement across the sciences has been made in recent collaborations between metrologists and psychometricians as reported in the chapters of this book Modeling estimation and interpretation of objectively reproducible unit quantities that support both general comparability and adaptation to unique local circumstances are demonstrated in fields as diverse as artificial intelligence justice and beauty perception

The History of Alternative Test Methods in Toxicology ,2018-10-20

The History of Alternative Test Methods in Toxicology uses a chronological approach to demonstrate how the use of alternative methods has evolved from their conception as adjuncts to traditional animal toxicity tests to replacements for them This volume in the History of Toxicology and Environmental Health series explores the history of alternative test development validation and use with an emphasis on humanity and good science in line with the Three Rs Replacement Reduction Refinement concept expounded by William Russell and Rex Burch in 1959 in their now classic volume The Principles of Humane Experimental Technique The book describes the historical development of technologies that have influenced the application of alternatives in toxicology and safety testing These range from single cell monocultures to sophisticated miniaturised and microfluidic organism on a chip devices and also include molecular modelling chemoinformatics and QSAR analysis and the use of stem cells tissue engineering and hollow fibre bioreactors This has been facilitated by the wider availability of human tissues advances in tissue culture analytical and diagnostic methods increases in computational processing capabilities and a greater understanding of cell biology and molecular mechanisms of toxicity These technological developments have enhanced the range and information content of the toxicity endpoints detected and therefore the relevance of test systems and data interpretation while new techniques for non invasive diagnostic imaging and high resolution detection methods have permitted an increased role for human studies Several key examples of how these technologies are being harnessed to meet 21st century safety assessment challenges are provided including their deployment in integrated testing schemes in conjunction with kinetic modelling and in specialized areas such as inhalation toxicity studies

Middle Range Theory for Nursing Mary Jane Smith, Patricia R. Liehr, Roger D. Carpenter, 2023-01-25. Three time recipient of the AJN Book of the Year Award. The completely revised fifth edition of this authoritative text encompasses the most current middle range theories for graduate nursing students and researchers. User friendly and consistently organized it helps readers to understand the connection of research to larger conceptual models in nursing. The fifth edition presents three new theories, a revised chapter on concept building, two published examples demonstrating the concept building process, and a new section on the application of middle range theory that addresses its use for practice and education. Additional new features include the fresh perspectives of a third editor, a two color design to enhance readability, and discussion questions concluding each chapter. The text describes sixteen middle range theories and elaborates on disciplinary perspectives providing an organizing framework and evaluating the theory. Each theory is consistently organized by purpose, historical development, primary concepts, the relationships among concepts, and its use in nursing practice and research. Understanding of concepts is enhanced by the book's use of the ladder of abstraction for each theory to explain its relationship to philosophical, conceptual, and empirical theory dimensions. New to the Fifth Edition: Includes three new theories: Inner Strength, Unitary Caring, and Nature Immersion for a total of 16 theories. A completely new section on application of theory to practice. New chapter on application of middle range theory to education. Extensively revised chapter on building concepts for research. Two color design to enhance readability. Discussion questions at the end of each chapter to promote class dialogue. Nine practice examples relating to application of middle range theory. The expertise of a new editor. Key Features: Delivers theories in consistent format to facilitate comparisons. Presents published exemplars demonstrating concept building. User friendly and consistently organized. Summarizes middle range theories developed between 1988 and 2020.

Validation of Score Meaning for the Next Generation of Assessments Kadriye Ercikan, James W. Pellegrino, 2017-03-27. Despite developments in research and practice on using examinee response process data in assessment design, the use of such data in test validation is rare. Validation of Score Meaning in the Next Generation of Assessments: Using Response Processes highlights the importance of validity evidence based on response processes and provides guidance to measurement researchers and practitioners in creating and using such evidence as a regular part of the assessment validation process. Response processes refer to approaches and behaviors of examinees when they interpret assessment situations and formulate and generate solutions as revealed through verbalizations eye movements response times or computer clicks Such response process data can provide information about the extent to which items and tasks engage examinees in the intended ways With contributions from the top researchers in the field of assessment this volume includes chapters that focus on methodological issues and on applications across multiple contexts of assessment interpretation and use In Part I of this book contributors discuss the framing of validity as an evidence based argument for the interpretation of the meaning of test scores the specifics of different methods of response process data collection and analysis and the use of response process data relative to issues of validation as highlighted in the joint standards on testing In Part II chapter authors offer examples that illustrate the use of response process data in assessment validation These cases are provided specifically to address issues related to the analysis and interpretation of performance on assessments of complex cognition assessments designed to inform classroom learning and instruction and assessments intended for students with varying cultural and linguistic backgrounds The Open Access version of this book available at <http://www.taylorfrancis.com> has been made available under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives 4.0 license

Towards Elimination of Dog Mediated Human Rabies Salome Dürr, Anna Sophie Fahrion, Lea Knopf, Louise Taylor, 2017-10-06 Rabies is an ancient zoonotic viral disease that still exerts a high impact on human and animal health The disease is almost 100% fatal after clinical signs appear and it kills tens of thousands of people per year worldwide particularly in Africa and many parts of Asia Although the disease in humans can be prevented by timely post exposure prophylaxis its access and affordability is limited in rabies endemic countries With 99% of infections in humans caused by rabid domestic dog bites controlling the infection in this reservoir population has been proven to be most effective to reduce and eliminate human rabies cases In this context this Research Topic invited contributions on the control and elimination of dog mediated human rabies Publications on epidemiological educational policy related and economic aspects of dog and human rabies surveillance implementation of control in dogs and humans and scientific documentation of success stories were consolidated We hope that these articles contribute to reaching the ambitious goal set by key players in global health of the elimination of dog mediated human rabies by 2030 Ships and Offshore Structures XIX Carlos Guedes Soares, Y.
