Committee on Post Office and Post Roads,1941      The School Review ,1909      Thinking Geometrically Thomas Q. Sibley,2015-08-14 Thinking Geometrically A Survey of Geometries is a well written and comprehensive survey of college geometry that would serve a wide variety of courses for both mathematics majors and mathematics education majors Great care and attention is spent on developing visual insights and geometric intuition while stressing the logical structure historical development and deep interconnectedness of the ideas Students with less mathematical preparation than upper division mathematics majors can successfully study the topics needed for the preparation of high school teachers There is a multitude of exercises and projects in those chapters developing all aspects of geometric thinking for these students as well as for more advanced students These chapters include Euclidean Geometry Axiomatic Systems and Models Analytic Geometry Transformational Geometry and Symmetry Topics in the other chapters including Non Euclidean Geometry Projective Geometry Finite Geometry Differential Geometry and Discrete Geometry provide a broader view of geometry The different chapters are as independent as possible while the text still manages to highlight the many connections between topics The text is self contained including appendices with the material in Euclid's first book and a high school axiomatic system as well as Hilbert's axioms Appendices give brief summaries of the parts of linear algebra and multivariable calculus needed for certain chapters While some chapters use the language of groups no prior experience with abstract algebra is presumed The text will support an approach emphasizing dynamical geometry software without being tied to any particular software      Concept Mapping as an Assessment Tool for Conceptual Understanding in Mathematics Haiyue JIN,2022-05-05 This book investigates the practicability and effectiveness of the concept map as a tool for assessing students' conceptual understanding in mathematics The author first introduces concept mapping and then employs it to investigate students' conceptual understanding of four different mathematical topics Alongside traditional scoring methods she adopts Social Network Analysis a new technique to interpret student constructed concept maps which reveals fresh insights into the graphic features of the concept map and into how students connect mathematical concepts By comparing two traditional school tests with the concept map she examines its concurrent validity and discusses its strengths and drawbacks from the viewpoint of assessing conceptual understanding With self designed questionnaires interviews and open ended writing tasks she also investigates students and teachers' attitudes toward concept mapping and describes the implications these findings may have for concept mapping's use in school and for further research on the topic Scholars and postgraduate students of mathematics education and teachers interested in concept mapping or assessing conceptual understanding in classroom settings will find this book an informative inspiring and overall valuable addition to their libraries New Technical Books New York Public Library,1968 Book Rate Bill United States.
