Report of the Bombay Chamber of Commerce for the Year ... ,1895 Applied Remote Sensing for Urban Planning, Governance and Sustainability Maik Netzband,William L. Stefanov,Charles Redman,2007-12-10 Despite the promising and exciting possibilities presented by new and fast developing remote sensing technologies applied to urban areas there is still a gap perceived between the generally academic and research focused spectrum of results offered by the urban remote sensing community and the application of these data and products by the local governmental bodies of urban cities and regions While there is no end of interesting science questions that we can ask about cities sometimes these questions don't match well with what the operational problems and concerns of a given city are The authors present data from six urban regions from all over the world They explain what the important questions are and how one can use data and scientific skills to help answer them

The New Age Urban Transportation Systems, Volume I Sundaravalli Narayanaswami, 2019-03-04 Urbanization is a global phenomenon that hugely constrains existing transportation infrastructure in cities Urban transportation UT challenges are more significant in developing countries with rapid development as the land occupation is dense Limited urban space and infrastructure fail to meet the increasing traffic demands and to provide reasonable service quality Therefore betterment of UT systems is more required than ever Infrastructural development and transportation operations are mainly directed at citizen welfare and it requires huge capital investments States initiate urban development by inviting private participation so that operational and commercial risks are minimized and quality of execution is better Several aspects in planning and management of global UT projects are common But the approach and solutions are typically developed for a local context and relevance Specific UT challenges are land use planning socioeconomic distribution project designing implementation financial analysis and governmental policies A comprehensive background of UT systems challenges involved and various approaches adopted by different countries are presented along with five real life Asian cases The book is aimed as a one point reference on modern day developments on urban transportation for a readership of consultants practitioners developers policy makers and academicians

Environmentalism and the Mass Media Graham Chapman, Caroline Fraser, Ivor Gaber, Keval Kumar, 2003-06-24 The mass media in different countries reflects dominant concerns of contemporary societies Ideas of environmentalism are often broad and imprecise holding neither meaning nor currency Environmentalism and Mass Media sheds new light on the diverse ideas of environmentalism the way environmental ideas circulate and public reaction to environmental concerns conveyed by the media Drawing on unique interviews with journalists media pictures and public opinion surveys in both UK and India the authors outline the differing cultural religious and political contexts against which world views form present a fascinating picture between North and South Mass media and communication technology is in danger of locking Northern countries into a ghetto of environmental self deception thereby perpetuating poverty in the South The South's goal remains the attainment of development the North sees environmental problems occurring elsewhere in Eastern Europe and developing countries Whether or not environmentalism becomes a universal cause depends on how and to what extent such sharply contrasting world views can converge
