and autonomous participation in shaping their daily spatial reality and how they challenge this exclusion In a comparative interdisciplinary reading of anglophone and francophone Caribbean literature and contemporary spatial theory she focuses on the house as a literary figure and the ways that fiction and acts of storytelling resist the oppressive hierarchies of colonial and neocolonial domination The author engages with the theories of Henri Lefebvre Michel Foucault and contemporary critical geographers in addition to selected fiction by V S Naipaul Patrick Chamoiseau Beryl Gilroy and Rafael Confiant to examine the novelists construction of narrative houses to reclaim not only actual or imaginary places but also the very conditions of self representation Radovi ultimately argues for the power of literary imagination to contest the limitations of geopolitical boundaries by emphasizing space and place as fundamental to our understanding of social and political identity The physical places described in these texts crystallize the protagonists ambiguous and complex relationship to the New World Space is then as the author shows both a political fact and a powerful metaphor whose imaginary potential continually challenges its material limitations
