UNIT 3: CULTURAL PATTERNS AND PROCESSES

Cultural landscapes are combinations of physical features, agricultural and industrial practices, religious and linguistic characteristics, evidence of permanent occupations, and other expressions of culture (including traditional and postmodern architecture and land use patterns).

Attitudes toward ethnicity and gender, including the role of women in the workforce, ethnic neighborhoods, and religious communities and trends help shape the use of space in a given way.

- Cultural landscapes patterns
 - Built environment
 - Evidence of permanent human habitation and cultural environment
 - The built environment as the physical manifestation of the attitudes of humans
- Expressions of culture in the built environment
 - Physical features, including features that relate directly to the culture (e.g., agriculture and related practices)
 - Religious features, including places of worship, religious practices, religious architecture, and religious communities
 - Language features, including language, dialects, and language communities
 - Ethnic features, including ethnic neighborhoods, ethnic communities, and ethnic practices
- Ethnic neighborhoods, trends that suggest that an area can be associated with different groups of people, and that groups of people tend to cluster in the same or different parts of the same group

Language, ethnicity and identity contribute to a sense of place, which is the global cultural landscape.

Language, ethnicity and religion are factors creating centrifugal and centripetal forces.

- Centrifugal forces that pull people apart
 - Ethnic neighborhoods, including ethnic communities and ethnic practices
- Centripetal forces that pull people together
 - Ethnic neighborhoods, including ethnic communities and ethnic practices

Language	Religion	Ethnicity
• Spanish in Spanish-speaking countries • Latin American in Latin America	• Catholicism in Catholic countries • Protestantism in Protestant countries	• Hispanic in Hispanic countries • African American in African American countries

Religion and expression - including religious, geographical, and ethnic expression - are types of differences.

Differences among people in a culture include ethnic, ethnic, and ethnic.

- Ethnic differences, groups of people that share the same ethnic identity and culture
- Ethnic differences, groups of people that share the same ethnic identity and culture
- Ethnic differences, groups of people that share the same ethnic identity and culture
- Ethnic differences, groups of people that share the same ethnic identity and culture
- Ethnic differences, groups of people that share the same ethnic identity and culture

Interactions between and among cultural traits and larger global forces can lead to new forms of cultural expression, for example, globalization and digital media.

- Globalization, referring to the process by which economic, cultural, and social interactions become global
- Digital media, referring to the process by which economic, cultural, and social interactions become global

Globalization, immigration and trade helped to shape patterns and practices of culture.

- Globalization, referring to the process by which economic, cultural, and social interactions become global
- Immigration, referring to the process by which people move from one country to another
- Trade, referring to the process by which goods and services are exchanged between countries

- Globalization, referring to the process by which economic, cultural, and social interactions become global
