On Laughter-Silvered Wings Gail Strever-Morkel, 2013-06-19 This well written and thoroughly researched biographical account of the life and times of a South African WW2 pilot the author s father is sure to appeal widely The story is by necessity highly personal drawing on family history and changing lifestyles as the central figure fights his way through a series of challenging experiences flying coastal strike missions in the Mediterranean and North Africa then in the Far East against the Japanese The story is full of personal perspectives and gets off to a thorough and engrossing operational start before retracing the personal family story to place everything in context Images of a lost world haunt the pages evocative of an era where a decisive individual could challenge the system and get results despite massive inflexibility within the Services This work is sure to make a welcome addition to any discerning readers collection the story of Coastal Command is often overlooked with histories focusing largely on the Fighter boys and Bomber Boys of World War Two and their associated experiences The exploits recorded in this book therefore serve as an overdue reminder of the Unit and the part they played in the Allied effort Ted s wartime exploits include the first midair skyjacking in history a daring solitary attack on the Italian fleet after losing the rest of his strike team narrowly surviving being burnt in the subsequent inferno of a horrific air crash in the Ceylon jungle many emergency crash landings and finally as Commander of 27 Squadron carrying out dangerous rescue operations behind enemy lines for members of the Indian Resistance Movement who were operating in the jungle of Burma Written largely in the first person and illustrated extensively these exploits come vividly to life

Directorate of History and Heritage, 1997 Canadian military history and military matters have not been well represented in general in retrospective bibliographies of Canadian or in international military bibliographies What has been attempted in this document is a bibliography of published primary sources and secondary works on Canadian military topics excluding poetry and fiction covering the period from Confederation to the present Entries in the bibliography represent printed monographs books and pamphlets and serial titles The prime criteria of inclusion were that the work be chiefly or uniquely both Canadian and military in its contents Many in house publications of the training pamphlet or regulations type have been included but only insofar as they tell us something of the armed forces themselves rather than details of tactical doctrine or of pieces of equipment Works by or about Canadians serving with the armed forces of other countries have been included as well as materials relating to the military history of Newfoundland since 1867 Canadiana, 1985 Anglo-Canadian

Growing Remembrance David Childs, 2008-09-22 The story of the inspiration for establishment and evolution of the National Memorial Arboretum is a fascinating one Sited at Alrewas Staffordshire the Arboretum has become the Nations all year round focus for remembering and paying tribute to all who have served their country in both peace and war not only in the armed forces and merchant navy but in the emergency services as well Planting began in 1997 and was supported by hundreds of organizations both serving and retired Among the early memorials was a life size wooded polar bear for 49th Division a grove of Irish trees for the Royal Irish Regiment an Avenue of Chestnuts for the Police and a Chapel of Peace and Forgiveness to mark the coming of the Millennium Britains war widows had a rose garden planted for them while the Far East Prisoners of War managed to fund a small museum to stand alongside a length of railway track brought back from the notorious Burma Railway In October 2007 H M the Queen confirmed the importance of the site when she opened the Armed Forces Memorial to commemorate all service personnel lost on active service since the end of the Second World War this is especially poignant given the ongoing conflicts in Iraq and Afghanistan The importance of the National Memorial Arboretum is well demonstrated by the growing number of stands and the steady increase in visitor numbers Beyond Combat Tristan Moss, Tom Richardson, 2018-07-01 War is only a small part of military life Uniformed men and women spend the vast majority of their time away from combat training receiving medical attention burying the dead and undertaking the myriad tasks of survival in an operational zone Beyond Combat explores how the military manages its other roles as well as the experiences of the servicemen and women themselves With contributions from Christina Twomey Noah Riseman Shirleene Robinson and Major Clare O Neill among others Beyond Combat is a ground breaking examination of life beyond the frontline
