Enhancing Education With Intelligent Systems and Data-Driven Instruction Bhatia, Madhulika, Mushtaq, Muhammad Tahir, 2024-03-04 In the dynamic environment of education the traditional methods employed by educators are struggling to keep pace with the evolving needs of students in the 21st century The challenge lies in fostering an environment that not only engages students but also equips them with the skills essential for the modern world Teachers find themselves navigating a complex terrain where outdated pedagogical approaches fall short of unlocking the full potential of diverse learning styles and unique talents within their classrooms Enhancing Education With Intelligent Systems and Data Driven Instruction is a groundbreaking book that goes beyond the constraints of conventional teaching methods offering a comprehensive guide that inspires and equips educators with innovative tools and approaches From integrating innovative technology to cultivating collaborative learning environments the book provides a roadmap for educators to reimagine their teaching practices By embracing student centered approaches fostering diversity and utilizing digital tools effectively this book empowers teachers to transform their classrooms into dynamic hubs of inspiration motivation and empowerment

Culture, philosophies and reforms in public administration for the globalizing world Edwin O.C. Ijeoma,Ogochukwu I. Nzewi,2018-12-31 The aim of this scholarly collected work is to contribute to the scientific discourse on public administration in a globalised environment The book reflects on governance challenges in South Africa and in Africa with its point of departure being the master narratives the so called grand debates such as New Public Management and specifically the role of technology It also reflects on the so called middle range discourses concerning organisational level issues in government e g leadership and work procedures and explores new solutions to old governance challenges like corruption and service delivery The uniqueness of this collected work lies in its ability to reflect on existing philosophies and practices in an innovative way Through its multidisciplinary lens the book opens up a new vision for the future of public administration in the South African context and on the African continent not neglecting the current local regional and global environment Until recently globalisation was considered an entrenched world order but international political events during the course of the past few years have resulted in one of the biggest challenges to its endurance in recent history This includes developments such as the successful referendum in Britain to exit the European Union highlighting the growth of a severe nationalist and protectionist agenda that may be a signal of the unravelling of the current globalism world order These developments inspire deeper interrogation of the challenges to effective public administration globally and the ripple effects in South Africa and Africa as a whole Pointedly it is evident that ensuring the voice of citizens in policy decision making remains a critical governance challenge On the policy front there are perennial challenges of land reform service delivery and poverty while on the governance front corruption has metastasised with a growing culture of impunity and lack of accountability in leadership In the midst of growing corruption and more than 20 years into democracy South Africa s income inequality remains one of the highest in the world This setting constitutes the context of the research outcome published in this scholarly work

Doctoral Education in South Africa Nico Cloete, Johann Mouton, 2015-12-08 Worldwide in Africa and in South Africa the importance of the doctorate has increased disproportionately in relation to its share of the overall graduate output over the past decade This heightened attention has not only been concerned with the traditional role of the PhD namely the provision of future academics rather it has focused on the increasingly important role that higher education and particularly high level skills is perceived to play in national development and the knowledge economy This book is unique in the area of research into doctoral studies because it draws on a large number of studies conducted by the Centre of Higher Education Trust CHET and the Centre for Research on Evaluation Science and Technology CREST as well as on studies from the rest of Africa and the world In addition to the historical studies new quantitative and qualitative research was undertaken to produce the evidence base for the analyses presented in the book The findings presented in Doctoral Education in South Africa pose anew at least six tough policy questions that the country has struggled with since 1994 and continues to struggle with if it wishes to gear up the system to meet the target of 5 000 new doctorates a year by 2030 Discourses framed around the single imperatives of growth efficiency transformation or quality will not however generate the kind of policy discourses required to resolve these tough policy questions effectively What is needed is a change in approach that accommodates multiple imperatives and allows for these to be addressed simultaneously

Relanguaging Language from a South African Township School Lara-Stephanie Krause-Alzaidi, 2021-12-20 Using data from a long term ethnographic study of English language classrooms in a South African township this book highlights linguistic expertise in a setting where it is not usually expected or sought Rather than being peripheral and unskilled South African township teachers and learners emerge as skilled re languagers central to the workings of South African education and to our understanding of how language classrooms work This book foregrounds the heterogeneity flexibility and creativity of day to day language practices that African urban spaces are known for and conceptualises language teaching not as a progression from one fixed language to another but as a circular sorting process between linguistic heterogeneity languaging and homogeneity a standard language

Nietzsche's "Ecce Homo" Nicholas Martin, Duncan Large, 2020-12-16 Friedrich Nietzsche's intellectual autobiography Ecce Homo has always been a controversial book Nietzsche prepared it for publication just before he became incurably insane in early 1889 but it was held back until after his death and finally appeared only in 1908 For much of the first century of its reception Ecce Homo met with a sceptical response and was viewed as merely a testament to its author's incipient madness This was hardly surprising since he is deliberately outrageous with the megalomaniacal self advertisement of his chapter titles and brazenly claims I am not a man I am dynamite as he attempts to explode one preconception after another in the Western philosophical tradition In recent decades there has been increased interest in the work especially in the English speaking world but the present volume is the first collection of essays in any language devoted to the work Most of the essays are selected from the proceedings of an international conference held in London to mark the centenary of the first publication of Ecce Homo in 2008 They are supplemented by a number of specially commissioned essays Contributors include established and emerging Nietzsche scholars from the UK and USA Germany and France Portugal Sweden and the Netherlands
