Varieties of Populism in Europe in Times of Crises Manuela Caiani, Paolo Graziano, 2021-03-25 Populism is booming across all the nuances of the political spectrum It occupies relevant positions in national parliaments in governmental coalitions with mainstream parties or as successful challengers of the political status quo This volume sheds new light on the topic from different methodological and theoretical angles and offers evidence from a variety of cases on the

why and how questions on populism's emergence and consolidation in Europe over the past 30 years. The volume composed of eight chapters investigates how different populist parties in the European Union have been affected by the various crises disentangling the role of the Great Recession vis-à-vis other factors such as political and party system factors but also structural social changes or cultural opportunities in the growing strength of populist parties in various European countries. More specifically, the volume aims to promote critical discussion on the concept of populism reflecting on its conceptual usability beyond the traditional party families to which it is usually related; use a preliminary theoretical clarification to shed new light on the different ways in which populism has been articulated in the various European countries either in Continental and Southern Europe or in the lesser known and studied East Central countries since the economic crisis which has acted as an external shock for many party systems either giving birth to new political actors or consolidating existing ones; investigate the connections between populism and the national contextual political and cultural specificities that can determine the development of different types of populisms across countries; elaborating on different configurations of triggering conditions for populism and reflecting on the limitations of a discrete conceptualisation of the phenomenon. The chapters in this book were originally published as a special issue of West European Politics.      Openings and Closures:

Socialist Strategy at a Crossroads Greg Albo, Stephen Maher, 2025-03-02. Since the 2016 upsurge in enthusiasm for electoral organizing and party building, the terrain has shifted. It was not so long ago that a new wave of democratic socialist organizing exploded onto the scene. Quickly, the defeat of candidates such as Bernie Sanders and Jeremy Corbyn had a deflating effect. This followed on the crumbling of the new parties in Europe. In Greece, Syriza buckled in the face of the iron straitjacket imposed by EU institutions; in Spain, Podemos fractured under the weight of its ideological and institutional weaknesses; and Bloco fared no better in Portugal. Meanwhile, the Chavez-inspired Bolivarian revolutions in Latin America hit an impasse, barely stumbling along. We find socialist strategy again at a crossroads, pressed by the urgent need to find new directions forward amidst mounting crises. Some on the left, searching for new paths forward, saw little alternative but to support authoritarian neoliberal states in their coercive response to a rising tide of hard right forces as if the repressive and bloody campaigns launched by powerful states could constitute junior components of anti-fascist popular fronts. Others in the left turned to the workplace, taking new approaches to union organizing, seeking to build a working class base for radical politics whose absence seemed directly responsible for another round of defeats. At this new conjuncture, what was left of the strategy, tactics, and organizations that had seemed so promising? Was the new socialist left starting over or moving on? This year's Socialist Register 2025 engages with the openings and closures of, at the crossroads of socialist strategy, with case studies from Britain, US, Pakistan, Argentina, Germany, Bolivia, Barcelona, and Turkey, engaging with topics such as social struggles over climate change, Palestine solidarity, public banks, re-municipalization of utilities, and unions.      The History of British Women's Writing, 1970-Present Mary Eagleton, Emma Parker, 2016-04-29.
