Resources in Education, 2000-04 Geospatial Technologies and Geography Education in a Changing World Osvaldo Muñiz Solari, Ali Demirci, Joop van der Schee, 2015-08-31 This book is an initiative presented by the Commission on Geographical Education of the International Geographical Union. It focuses particularly on what has been learned from geospatial projects and research from the past decades of implementing geospatial technologies (GST) in formal and informal education. The objective of this publication is to inform an international audience of teachers, professionals, scholars, and policymakers about the state of the art and prospects of geospatial practices (GPs) as organized activities that use GST and lessons learned in relation to geographical education. GST make up an advanced body of knowledge developed by practitioners of geographic information systems (GIS), remote sensing (RS), global positioning systems (GPS), and digital cartography (DC). GST have long been applied in many different sectors; however, their first use in higher education began in the early 1980s and then diffused to secondary schools during the 1990s. Starting with GIS and RS, it evolved into a much broader context as GST expanded to include GPS and DC with new communication technologies and Internet applications. GST have been used around the world as a combination of tools and special techniques to make research, teaching, and learning more effective.

Assessment in Geographical Education: An International Perspective Theresa Bourke, Reece Mills, Rod Lane, 2022-02-27 In recent years, there has been increased attention paid to the importance of assessment in Geographical Education, the chosen subject for this book. Assessment is an important tool for collecting information about student learning and for providing timely data to inform key stakeholders, including students, teachers, parents, and policymakers. To be effective, assessment needs to be valid, reliable, and fair. Validity is about ensuring that we assess what we claim we are assessing. Reliability is about measuring performance and understanding in a consistent way. Without validity and reliability, assessment is unlikely to provide equitable opportunities for students to demonstrate what they know and can do. As geography educators, it is therefore important that we identify the core concepts and skills in geography that we want students to master. We need a clear understanding of what the progression of learning looks like for each concept and skill so we can develop fit-for-purpose assessments that track and improve student learning. While there is a substantial literature on evidence-based assessment in secondary school contexts, research exploring best practice assessment in geography is rare. This is a concern given the distinctive nature of geography and the important role of assessment in the learning process. This scholarly collection seeks to address this issue by connecting research in educational assessment with the domain of geography. The chapters are written by leading researchers in Geographical Education from across the globe. These chapters provide examples of innovation through the collective voices of geography teacher-educator scholars from across Australia, USA, South Korea, Germany, Switzerland, and Singapore. What unifies the work in this book is that each chapter focuses on a key feature of the discipline of geography, providing scholarly examples of evidence-based

practices for assessing student s knowledge and skills Evidence-Based Practice for Health Professionals Bernadette Howlett, Ellen Rogo, Teresa Gabiola Shelton, 2020-02-11 Evidence Based Practice for Health Professionals Second Edition is a entry level textbook for health professional students that explores the basic concepts of evidence based practice with a clinical emphasis GIS World ,1995 Learning to Think Spatially National Research Council, Division on Earth and Life Studies, Board on Earth Sciences and Resources, Geographical Sciences Committee, Committee on Support for Thinking Spatially: The Incorporation of Geographic Information Science Across the K-12 Curriculum, 2005-02-03 Learning to Think Spatially examines how spatial thinking might be incorporated into existing standards based instruction across the school curriculum Spatial thinking must be recognized as a fundamental part of K 12 education and as an integrator and a facilitator for problem solving across the curriculum With advances in computing technologies and the increasing availability of geospatial data spatial thinking will play a significant role in the information based economy of the twenty first century Using appropriately designed support systems tailored to the K 12 context spatial thinking can be taught formally to all students A geographic information system GIS offers one example of a high technology support system that can enable students and teachers to practice and apply spatial thinking in many areas of the curriculum 1990 Census of Population and Housing: Census geography ,1993 Didactic Strategies and Resources for Innovative Geography Teaching García de la Vega, Alfonso, 2022-06-10 Education has undergone a series of changes based on the new technologies strategies and best practices that have been developed in recent years Specifically the way various subjects are taught has developed considerably as education turns toward a more digital approach Geography education is no different and has had to adjust to these innovative practices in order to provide students with the best possible curricula Didactic Strategies and Resources for Innovative Geography Teaching presents educational strategies and resources to promote cross disciplinary approaches to teaching geographic knowledge and skills The book also discusses how geography education boosts essential cognitive and attitudinal processes in personal development fosters critical thinking and builds a society committed to its environment Covering key topics such as mobile learning natural learning environments and geographic information systems this reference work is ideal for teachers geographers researchers scholars academicians practitioners instructors and students
