Revolutionary War years to its nineteenth century flashpoint of civil war to the civil rights movement of the 1960s and today's Black Lives Matter. In a stunning reappraisal the author argues that it is the North not the South that bears the greater responsibility for creating the dominant strain of race theory which has been inculcated throughout the culture and in school textbooks that restricted and repressed African Americans and other minorities even as Northerners blamed the South for its legacy of slavery segregation and racial injustice. A major assessment of how we got to where we are today of how white supremacy has suffused every area of American learning from literature and science to religion medicine and law and why this kind of thinking has so insidiously endured for more than three centuries.
