Unmaking the Bomb Harold A. Feiveson, Alexander

Glaser, Zia Mian, Frank N. Von Hippel, 2016-09-02 A new approach to nuclear disarmament nonproliferation and the prevention of nuclear terrorism that focuses on controlling the production and stockpiling of nuclear materials Achieving nuclear disarmament stopping nuclear proliferation and preventing nuclear terrorism are among the most critical challenges facing the world today Unmaking the Bomb proposes a new approach to reaching these long held goals Rather than considering them as separate issues the authors physicists and experts on nuclear security argue that all three of these goals can be understood and realized together if we focus on the production stockpiling and disposal of plutonium and highly enriched uranium the fissile materials that are the key ingredients used to make nuclear weapons The authors describe the history production national stockpiles and current military and civilian uses of plutonium and highly enriched uranium and propose policies aimed at reducing and eventually eliminating these fissile materials worldwide These include an end to the production of highly enriched uranium and plutonium for weapons an end to their use as reactor fuels and the verified elimination of all national stockpiles

The Global Politics of Combating Nuclear Terrorism William C. Potter, Cristina

Hansell, 2013-09-13 The most difficult challenge for a terrorist organization seeking to build a nuclear weapon or improvised nuclear device is obtaining fissile material either plutonium or highly enriched uranium HEU Experts acknowledge that obtaining HEU uranium that has been processed to increase the proportion of the U 235 isotope to over 20% is the most difficult challenge facing a state or non state actor seeking to build a nuclear explosive The large stocks of HEU in civilian use many not adequately protected are thus one of the greatest security risks facing the global community at present This book contains chapters examining the various uses for this material and possible alternatives the threat posed by this material the economic political and strategic obstacles to international efforts to end the use of HEU for commercial and research purposes as well as new national and international measures that should be taken to further the elimination of HEU This book was published as a special issue of The Nonproliferation Review

Nuclear Energy and Global Governance

Trevor Findlay, 2010-11-24 The book considers the implications of the nuclear energy revival for global governance in the areas of safety security and non proliferation Increased global warming the energy demands of China India and other emerging economic powerhouses and the problems facing traditional and alternative energy sources have lead many to suggest that there will soon be a nuclear energy renaissance This book examines comprehensively the drivers of and constraints on the revival its nature and scope and the possibility that nuclear power will spread significantly beyond the countries which currently rely on it Of special interest are developing countries which aspire to have nuclear energy and which currently lack the infrastructure experience and regulatory structures to successfully manage such a major industrial enterprise Of even greater interest are countries that may see in a nuclear energy program a hedging strategy for a future nuclear weapons option Following on from this assessment the author examines the likely impact of various revival scenarios on the current global governance of nuclear energy notably the treaties international organizations arrangements and practices designed to ensure that nuclear power is safe secure and does not contribute to the proliferation of nuclear weapons The book concludes with recommendations to the international community on how to strengthen global governance in order to manage the nuclear energy revival prudently This book will be of much interest to students of energy security global governance security studies and IR in general

Nuclear Commerce Thomas Berndorfer,2009 Peaceful and non peaceful applications of nuclear technologies share a common fate one cannot exist without the other As the world is about to experience a nuclear renaissance the nuclear industry has gone through a phase of consolidation Despite more efficient intra industry structures and technological advancements it will still not be able to close the increasing gap in energy demand to be expected in the near future The economic attractiveness and relative absence of emissions still make atomic power an attractive candidate for an energy mix comprising several different clean technologies A renewed interest in nuclear energy will at the same time demand for a robust non proliferation framework as a safety guarantee for the market Export controls have been found to be an effective tool in this regard The Zangger Committee as the legitimate interpreter of the Non Proliferation Treaty and the Nuclear Suppliers Group representing the most influential countries in nuclear commerce have established a system of checks and balances that may not halt proliferation altogether but which has managed to slow it down significantly The effect of these control structures on the development of the nuclear market cannot be assessed directly Political and security concerns particularly attributed to nuclear matters make their application a necessity for the existence of the commerce itself Recent global efforts such as the United Nations Security Council Resolutions 1540 and 1673 are focusing on the implementation of common set of key elements for strategic trade controls The success of these measures will have a direct impact on the sustainability of the nuclear renaissance Pakistan's Nuclear Weapons Paul K. Kerr,2010 Pakistan s nuclear arsenal consists of approx 60 nuclear warheads although it could be larger Islamabad is producing fissile material adding to related production facilities and deploying additional delivery vehicles These steps will enable Pakistan to undertake both quantitative and qualitative improvements to its nuclear arsenal Islamabad does not have a public detailed nuclear doctrine but its minimum credible deterrent is widely regarded as primarily a deterrent to Indian military action Contents of this report Background Nuclear Weapons Responding to India Delivery Vehicles Nuclear Doctrine Command and Control Security Concerns Proliferation Threat and Pakistan's Response to the Proliferation Threat Military Weapons and Environment Wing Commander (Dr) Umesh Chandra Jha, 2017-10-15 Armed conflicts have become more complicated with the emphasis shifting towards new weapons such as drones cybercrime and autonomous weapons In July 2017 the UN General Assembly adopted the Treaty on the Prohibition of Nuclear Weapons This treaty prohibits a full range of nuclear weapon related activities such as undertaking to develop test produce manufacture acquire possess or stockpile nuclear weapons or other nuclear explosive devices as well as the use or threat of use of these weapons The ongoing conflicts have shown that the consequences of the use of explosive weapons are not limited to death physical injury and disability but also include long term impacts on mental well being The use of improvised weapons by States and non State actors is an area of concern for the environment Every State must therefore ensure that weapons used by their armed forces are explicitly adjudged under International Humanitarian Law IHL and Human Rights Law While reviewing a new weapon the States must adopt multilateral approaches drawing upon relevant legal health environmental and military expertise This book describes the environmental effects of eight weapons and explosive remnants of war that have caused extensive environmental harm in the recent past It also makes specific recommendations addressed to the international community and the States for protecting the natural environment from the impact of weapons of war This book will contribute towards a better understanding of the environmental harm caused by military weapons Pakistan Nuclear Programs and Projects Handbook - Strategic Information and Regulations IBP USA, 2009-03-20 Pakistan Nuclear Programs and Projects Handbook Japan's Remilitarisation Christopher W. Hughes, 2017-10-03 Is Japan on a path towards assuming a greater military role internationally or has the recent military normalisation ground to a halt since the premiership of Junichiro Koizumi In this book Christopher W Hughes assesses developments in defence expenditure civilmilitary relations domestic and international militaryindustrial complexes Japan's procurement of regional and global power projection capabilities the expansion of USJapan cooperation and attitudes towards nuclear weapons constitutional revision and the use of military force In all of these areas dynamic and long term changes outweigh Japan's short term political logjam over security policy Hughes argues that many post war constraints on Japan's military role are still eroding and that Tokyo is moving towards a more assertive military role and strengthened USJapan cooperation Japan's remilitarisation will boost its international security role and the dominance of the USJapan alliance in regional and global security affairs but will need to be carefully managed if it is not to become a source of destabilising tensions Security Studies Paul D. Williams, 2013 The first part of this book defines the field and offers a short historiography of its development Subsequent parts explore the theoretical approaches of security studies look at the central concepts that underpin contemporary debates look at existing institutional security architecture and examine some of the challenges ahead Jihadists and Weapons of Mass Destruction Gary Ackerman,Jeremy Tamsett,2009-02-03 Explores the Nexus Formed When Malevolent Actors Access Malignant MeansWritten for professionals academics and policymakers working at the forefront of counterterrorism efforts Jihadists and Weapons of Mass Destruction is an authoritative and comprehensive work addressing the threat of weapons of mass destruction WMD in the hands of jihadists

The Opportunity Steven Pifer,Michael E. O'Hanlon,2012-10-05 For some observers nuclear arms control is either a relic of the cold war or a utopian dream about a denuclearized planet decades in the future But as Brookings scholars Steven Pifer and Michael O Hanlon argue in The Opportunity arms control can address some key security challenges facing Washington today and enhance both American and global security Pifer and O Hanlon make a compelling case for further arms control measures to reduce the nuclear threat to the United States and its allies to strengthen strategic stability to promote greater transparency regarding secretive nuclear arsenals to create the possibility for significant defense budget savings to bolster American credibility in the fight to curb nuclear proliferation and to build a stronger and more sustainable U S Russia relationship President Obama gave priority to nuclear arms control early in his first term and by all accounts would like to be transformational on these questions Can there be another major U S Russia arms treaty Can the tactical and surplus strategic nuclear warheads that have so far escaped controls be brought into such a framework Can a modus vivendi be reached between the two countries on missile defense And what of multilateral accords on nuclear testing and production of fissile materials for nuclear weapons Pifer and O Hanlon concisely frame the issues the background and the choices facing the president provide practical policy recommendations and put it all in clear and readable prose that will be easily understood by the layman
