

Document 2: In 1992, Pope John Paul II signed an statement drafted on behalf of the 19th-century Galileo heliocentrists, a philosophical position who were right at minimum over Galileo and who in general had a view of history's greatest mistakes.

Monday, November 16, 1992, is a historic day for John Paul II, acknowledged in a speech today that the Roman Catholic Church had moved its longstanding Galileo error 300 years ago. He admitted that the Church would see around the Sun.

The address by the Pope before the Pontifical Academy of Sciences closed a 35-year investigation into the Church's condemnation of Galileo in 1633, one of history's most infamous collisions between faith and science. Galileo was forced to recant his astronomical findings to avoid being burned at the stake and spent the remaining eight years of his life under house arrest.

John Paul said the theologians who condemned Galileo did not recognize the formal distinction between the Bible and its interpretation.

This led them unduly to transpose into the realm of the doctrine of the faith, questions which in fact pertained to scientific investigations.

Though the Pope acknowledged that the Church had done Galileo a wrong, he said the 17th-century theologians were working with the knowledge available to them at the time.

Question 3:

Using Document 2, what was Pope John Paul II's main attitude according to this 1992 newspaper article? Pope John Paul II is trying to rectify the past wrongs of the Catholic Church in respect to Galileo's trial and condemnations. He states that Galileo was correct about heliocentrism and recognizes the error of the Catholic Church over 300 years earlier. He attempts to justify the actions of the Church based on the fact that theologians of the 1600s were "working with the knowledge available to them at the time."

Developments in Higher Education: National Strategies and Global Perspectives (Penerbit USM) Shukran Abd. Rahman, 2013 Developments in Higher Education National Strategies and Global Perspectives brings together a collection of meticulously researched articles providing insights into the changing nature of higher education through internationalisation and its consequent impact on the futures of higher education. These articles are intended for academics, policymakers and researchers in higher education to enhance their understanding, leading ultimately to sustainable human capital development. The book seeks to present a comprehensive discussion on internationalisation as a variable in higher education and hence derive alternative futures of higher education systems. It also suggests a different perspective regarding the appraisal of higher learning institutions and the subsequent influence on policy recommendations. Many of these important aspects are gathered together under topics such as Internationalising Higher Education: A Malaysian Perspective; Rankings and Policy Contradictions: Is It Time to Move Beyond Rankings; and Campuses 2060: Four Futures of Higher Education in Four Alternative Futures of Society. This book is recommended to anyone seeking to further enhance their knowledge in higher education, especially in regards to policymaking.

Global Health Disputes and Disparities Dru Bhattacharya, 2012-12-07 Global Health Disputes and Disparities explores inequalities in health around the world, looking particularly at the opportunity for and limitations of international law to promote population health by examining its intersection with human rights, trade and epidemiology, and the controversial issues of legal process, religion, access to care and the social context of illness. Using a theoretical framework rooted in international law, this volume draws on a wide range of rich empirical data to assess the challenges facing the field, including international legal treaty interpretation and specific issues related to the application of law in resolving pressing issues in gender, access to care and social determinants of health. In doing so, it illustrates the challenges for implementing rights-based approaches to address health disparities with profound implications for future regulations and policymaking. It includes both interviews with leading scholars as well as a variety of case studies from prominent international forums, including formal claims brought before the Human Rights Council and the Committee on the Elimination of All Forms of Discrimination Against Women, as well as regional and national experiences drawn from disputes in India, Indonesia, South Africa and the USA. This volume is an innovative contribution to the burgeoning fields of global health and human rights and will be of interest to students and researchers in public health, global health law and sociology interested in the social determinants of health and social justice from both theoretical and practical perspectives.
