Principles and Methods of Test Construction Karl Schweizer, Christine DiStefano, 2017-06-12. Leading experts describe the state of the art in developing and constructing psychometric tests. This latest volume in the series Psychological Assessment: Science and Practice describes the current state of the art in test development and construction. The past 10-20 years have seen substantial advances in the methods used to develop and administer tests. In this volume, many of the world's leading authorities collate these advances and provide information about current practices, thus equipping researchers and students to successfully construct new tests using the best modern standards and techniques. The first section explains the benefits of considering the underlying theory when designing tests, such as factor analysis and item response theory. The second section looks at item format and test presentation. The third discusses model testing and selection, while the fourth goes into statistical methods that can find group-specific bias. The final section discusses topics of special relevance, such as multi-trait, multi-state analyses and development of screening instruments.

2012-2013 College Admissions Data Sourcebook: Midwest Edition, Current Perspectives on the Value, Teaching, Learning, and Assessment of Design in STEM Education Jeffrey Buckley, Eva Hartell, Nicolaas Blom, 2023-08-25. Design is a central activity within Science, Technology, Engineering, and Mathematics (STEM) education. Within enacted practice, design can feature within intended learning outcomes, for example in learning to design, and it can feature within pedagogical methodologies, for example by learning through design. Often holding differing disciplinary interpretations, such as design as cyclical problem solving, iterative design, conceptual design, or design with or without making, understanding the educational merits of the ill-defined and open nature of authentic designerly activity is paramount. This Research Topic sets out to gain a more nuanced understanding of the value and roles of design within STEM educational contexts. This Research Topic focuses on design within STEM educational contexts, particularly in terms of teaching, learning, and assessment. The aim is to contribute to the evidential basis which can be used to guide the incorporation of design into educational practice. The topic has two central research objectives. The first is to generate evidence regarding what design is in STEM education. For example, is the ability to design a singular or manifold construct? Is the capacity to design, or are factors of this ability, both learnable and teachable? How transferable is designerly knowledge between contexts? How do different disciplinary contexts influence the interpretation of design? The second is to further our understanding of how best to incorporate design within STEM education.

contexts For example how much emphasis should be placed on learning to or through design in school How should design be assessed within formal education Where and when is design best incorporated into education In posing these questions the goal of this research topic is to provide scholarly discourse which supports critical reflection and the challenging of assumptions regarding design in education

Designing Effective Feedback Processes in Higher Education Naomi Winstone, David Carless, 2019-06-27 Feedback is one of the most powerful influences on student achievement yet it is difficult to implement productively within the constraints of a mass higher education system Designing Effective Feedback Processes in Higher Education A Learning Focused Approach addresses the challenges of developing effective feedback processes in higher education combining theory and practice to equip and empower educators It places less emphasis on what teachers do in terms of providing commentary and more emphasis on how students generate make sense of and use feedback for ongoing improvement Including discussions on promoting student engagement with feedback technology enabled feedback and effective peer feedback this book Contributes to the theory and practice of feedback in higher education by showcasing new paradigm feedback thinking focused on dialogue and student uptake Synthesises the evidence for effective feedback practice Provides contextualised examples of successful innovative feedback designs analysed in relation to relevant literature Highlights the importance of staff and student feedback literacy in developing productive feedback partnerships Supports higher education teachers in further developing their feedback practice Designing Effective Feedback Processes in Higher Education A Learning Focused Approach contributes to the theory and practice of higher education pedagogy by re evaluating how feedback processes are designed and managed It is a must read for educators researchers and academic developers in higher education who will benefit from a guide to feedback research and practice that addresses well recognised challenges in relation to assessment and feedback Technologies in Biomedical and Life Sciences Education Harry J. Witchel, Michael W. Lee, 2022-06-24 This contributed volume focuses on understanding the educational strengths and weaknesses of mediated content including media as a learning supplement in comparison to traditional face to face learning Each chapter includes research on and a broad brush summary of approaches to combining life sciences education with educational technologies The chapters are organized into four main sections each of which focuses on a key question regarding the consequences of incorporating media into education In this regard the authors highlight how educational technology is both a bridge and barrier to student access and inclusivity Further they address the ongoing discussion as to whether students need to be present for lectures and on how having agency in their own learning can improve both retention and conceptual understanding To link the content to current events the authors also shed light on the impact that the COVID 19 pandemic is having on the continuity of educational programs and on the growing importance of educational technologies Consequently the book offers life science educators valuable guidance on the technologies already available and an outlook on what is yet to come
