Hidden Challenges to Education Systems in Transition Economies Sue E. Berryman,2000-01-01 This book provides diagnostic and strategic analysis of the challenges to educational systems in the transition economies of the Eastern and Central Europe and Central Asia At the outset of the transition many of these countries educational systems had solved problems such as limited access gender inequalities and poor quality outputs that still plague other regions of the world Many policy makers believed that education was not a problem sector in transition countries This report presents originally unforeseen results which suggest that deep and broad problems are emerging in the sector and were threatening many countries achievements in education The region s education systems which once were a good fit with the planned economies and authoritarian political systems are proving to be a poor fit with market economies and more open political systems Inequities in learning opportunities are increasing at a time when human capital is becoming ever more important in the region s recovery and development The danger is that in some countries of the region these education problems left unchecked could threaten to create a vicious circle that will make poverty and social exclusion a powerful generational inheritance
