

GLOBALISATION

EQ1) What are the causes of globalisation and why has it accelerated?

- 3.1 Globalisation is a long-standing process which accelerated because of rapid developments in transport, communications and businesses.

- a. Globalisation involves widening and deepening global connections, interdependence and flows (commodities, capital, information, migrants and tourists). (1) Use of proportional flow lines showing networks of flows.

GLOBALISATION: variety of ways in which places/people are more connected than in the past

- IMF: increasing integration around world through movement of goods, services and capital
- World Health Organisation: increased interconnectedness of people and countries
- The Economist: freer movement of goods, services, ideas and people around world
- In past, global connection achieved through:
 - Trade - esp after 1492 when traditional world economy emerged
 - Colonialism - end of 19th century, British Empire directly controlled 1/4 of the world
 - Co-operation - ever since WWII ended, international organisations like UN existed

STRANDS OF GLOBALISATION

ECONOMIC	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Growth of TNCs accelerates international trade • ICT supports growth of spatial division of labour • Online shopping accounted for £50bn in UK in 2015
SOCIAL	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • immigration = networks cross national borders, 2013 immigrants > 20m • Social interconnectivity = universal connections e.g. mobile phones <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ◦ 2016: 5bn people access to a phone
POLITICAL	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Growth of trade blocs e.g. EU, NAFTA allows TNCs to merge • World Bank, IMF and WTO work to prevent harm to economies
CULTURAL	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • western cultural traits dominate in territories • circulation of ideas and info accelerated thanks to 24-hour reports; people keep in touch using internet e.g. FB 2bn monthly users • TV shows are broadcasting different shows e.g. Netflix

MODERN GLOBALISATION (POST-1940S) DIFFERS

- LENGTHENING of connections between people and places w/ products sourced from further away (e.g. bottled water is now brought to UK from Fiji, 10k miles away)
- DEEPENING of connections w/ sense of being connected to other people
- Faster speed of connections - people able to talk to each other in real time w/ tech

GLOBAL FLOWS + NETWORKS

CAPITAL	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Global scale - major capital (money) flows routed daily through stock markets • Range of businesses including investment banks buy and sell pension funds, bonds, stocks and shares • 2013: foreign exchange transactions reached US $5 trillion / day
COMMODITIES	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Valuable raw materials e.g. fossil fuels, food, minerals - traded • Flows of manufactured food increased multiplied in size due to low COP e.g. China, Bangladesh • 2015: GDP of $80 trillion → 1/4 = trade flows in agriculture/industry

Julian E. Kunnie, 2015-04-23 The issues arising from rapid global integration have generally been treated in isolation by most academic works This volume examines the many pitfalls of globalization from the perspective of impoverished and indigenous peoples including the widening wealth gap the struggle for restoration of dispossessed lands and cultural rights global warming and ecological annihilation and the experiences of women in underdeveloped regions The United States growing prison industrial complex is discussed The author concludes with a call for reassessing current ways of living and proposes recreating cultures of conservation and sustainable economies Instructors considering this book for use in a course may request an examination copy here The Oxford Handbook of International Political Economy, 2015-01-17 The field of International Political Economy (IPE) has rapidly developed into a central pillar in the study of International Relations and its interdisciplinary roots make it a rich and productive area of scholarly interest. This Oxford Handbook analyses and evaluates the state of the art in IPE research. Bringing together leading experts from a wide geographical and theoretical spectrum, the Handbook provides accessible and comprehensive surveys on topics central to the study of International Political Economy. As IPE scholarship evolves to explore global events such as financial crises and trade wars, examining how politics is both a cause and a consequence of economics, it highlights the practical and problem-driven nature of the field. The Handbook considers the purported European North American divide and the impact of the surrounding debate on the approach taken to the field. The chapters review the scholarly literature, outline future research opportunities, and consider the ways in which world events have contributed to new research in the field. The Handbook covers both the theoretical and methodological foundations of the field as well as substantive topics within it, including regulation, foreign aid, migration, NGOs, capital, political, military relations, and many others.

The Oxford Handbooks of International Relations is a twelve-volume set of reference books offering authoritative and innovative engagements with the principal sub-fields of International Relations. The series as a whole is under the General Editorship of Christian Reus Smit of the University of Melbourne and Duncan Snidal of the University of Oxford, with each volume edited by specialists in the field. The series both surveys the broad terrain of International Relations scholarship and reshapes it, pushing each sub-field in challenging new directions. Following the example of Reus Smit and Snidal's original Oxford Handbook of International Relations, each volume is organized around a strong central thematic, by scholars drawn from different perspectives, reading its sub-field in an entirely new way and pushing scholarship in challenging new directions.

Southern Insurgency
Immanuel Ness, 2015-10-20

The site of industrial struggle is shifting. Across the Global South, peasant communities are forced off the land to live and work in harsh and impoverished conditions. Inevitably, new methods of combating the spread of industrial capitalism are evolving in ambitious, militant, and creative ways. This is the first book to theorise and examine the present and future shape of global class struggles. Immanuel Ness looks at three key countries: China, India, and South Africa. In each case, he considers the broader historical forces at play, the effects of imperialism, the decline of the trade union movement, the class struggle, and the effects of the growing reserve army of labour. For each case study, he narrows his focus to reveal the specifics of each grassroots insurgency: export promotion and the rise of worker insurgency in China, the new labour organisations in India, and the militancy of the miners in South Africa. This is a study about the nature of the new industrial worker in the Global South, about people living a terrifying, precarious existence, but also one of experimentation.

Singapore Kent E. Calder,2016-11-01 How

Singapore's solutions to common problems can provide examples for other societies. Nearly everyone knows that Singapore has one of the most efficient governments and competitive advanced economies in the world. But can this unique city state of some 5.5 million residents also serve as a model for other advanced economies as well as for the emerging world? Respected East Asia expert Kent Calder provides clear answers to this intriguing question in his new groundbreaking book that looks at how Singapore's government has harnessed information technology, data, and a focus on innovative adaptive governance to become a model smart city, smart state. Calder describes Singapore as a laboratory for solutions to problems experienced by urban societies around the world. In particular, he shows how Singapore has dealt successfully with education, energy, environmental, housing, and transportation challenges; many of its solutions can be adapted in a wide range of other societies. Calder also explains how Singapore offers lessons for how countries can adapt their economies to the contemporary demands of global commerce. Singapore consistently ranks at the top in world surveys measuring competitiveness, ease of doing business, protection of intellectual property, and absence of corruption. The book offers concrete insights and a lucid appreciation of how Singapore's answers to near-universal problems can have a much broader relevance even in very different societies.

The International Baccalaureate in Asia Moosung Lee, Ewan Wright, Allan Walker, 2024-12-23

Drawing on extensive scholarly work, datasets, and experience with International Baccalaureate (IB) schools in Asia, this book illuminates contemporary debates, discussions, and discoveries surrounding IB schools in the region. Schools adopting IB programmes are growing exponentially worldwide, where Asia has seen the fastest growth since 2000. By critically exploring the roles, practices, and impacts of IB schools, this book enhances our understanding of whether and how IB programmes can drive improvements in school practices and systems in Asia. The book is organised into four parts and 12 chapters, aiming to discern the light and shadow of schools implementing IB programmes. Part 1 provides insights into the International Baccalaureate Diploma Programme (IBDP), students' learning experiences, and outcomes. Part 2 focuses on school leadership, examining the role of leadership in programme implementation and its relationship with IBDP student achievement. Part 3 offers a comparative perspective on the IB, exploring topics such as the pedagogical characteristics of the Middle Years Programme (MYP), the introduction of IB programmes into local and national education systems, and comparing the promised and actual benefits between the IBDP and other international programmes. Finally, Part 4 addresses two critical issues related to the expansion of IB programmes in Asia: the introduction and operation of IB programmes within national contexts and the emergence of educational stratifications and inequalities by the expansion of IB schools. Built on substantial data and empirical studies, this book fills a crucial gap in understanding the evolving nature of IB programmes in Asia. It provides readers with a critical and comprehensive understanding of the changing landscape of IB schooling practices and systems in the region. This book is an invaluable resource for academics, educators, scholars, and graduate students in the fields of educational leadership and administration, comparative and international education, higher education, and education policy.
