

Harvard Marketing Simulation Solution

Abstract After decades, Southern U.S. public high schools continue to have the lowest graduation rates. To be included in the 2012 federal college grant program, schools must have graduation rates of 80% or higher. This study examined the factors that influence graduation rates in Southern U.S. public high schools. The study found that the most significant factor influencing graduation rates was the school's graduation rate in the previous year. Other factors that influenced graduation rates included the school's socioeconomic status, the school's size, and the school's location. The study also found that the school's graduation rate was a significant predictor of the school's socioeconomic status, size, and location.
