Products, 1976-77 Robert Bridger Phelps, 1977 Making Our Forests and Rangelands More Productive, 1986 The Global Forest Sector Eric Hansen, Rajat Panwar, Richard Vlosky, 2013-12-04 Changes in production demand supply and trade patterns the impact of green building and bioenergy on industry practices and policy infrastructure and new economies with production advantages and large consumption bases all present challenges and opportunities in the forest sector With contributions from leading experts in academia and professional organizations The Global Forest Sector Changes Practices and Prospects fills a gap in the literature that is preventing students scholars and policy makers from developing a timely structured big picture view of forest sector business In addition the book reviews current thinking on a wide variety of business management issues in the forest sector The book covers managing change in the global forest sector and the impact of globalization on forest users It discusses markets and market forces new products and product categories and the influence of China and Russia The book then examines the environmental paradigm including environmental activism sustainability and the impact of green building and bioenergy The book concludes with coverage of the role of information technology corporate social responsibility innovation and next steps Overall this book helps readers both develop a bird's eye view of the changes surrounding the forest sector as well as have a magnified view of numerous managerial issues associated with these changes The content paints a picture of the current and changing forest sector including the state of forests the nature of markets the newly emerged patterns of stakeholder impact and evolution of key business practices It provides the foundation needed to develop the conservation based economy required for future success in the global forest sector

Innovation in the Forest Products Industry Abra Hovgaard, Eric Hansen, Joseph Roos, 2005 Because there is a lack of innovation research in the forest products industry and innovative activities in the industry are not well documented this study attempted to fill that void The objectives of this study were to understand the process and definition of innovation in the forest products industry identify the constraints on innovative activities identify resources that would improve innovation in forest products companies compare the innovation environments in Alaska and Oregon and provide a benchmark study for innovation in the forest products industry This study revealed that there are several aspects of innovation in the forest products industry In addition the innovation process is a combination of semiformal development stages trial and error intuition and luck A variety of factors constrained companies from being more innovative including government regulations shipping and labor costs lack of cash flow raw material characteristics marketing expertise and raw material supply There do not appear to be any resources that would be helpful to forest products companies at least none that the interviewed companies could recommend Offering companies the chance to exchange ideas and network is the most valuable resource available The innovation environments in Alaska and Oregon are somewhat similar yet different in the marketing tactics employed and the techniques used to obtain market information Furthermore the type of innovation projects that each region focuses on differs as does the actual process used to develop innovations Future research should focus on completing a quantitative component to this study developing short courses or 1 day seminars identifying factors that contribute to innovation success and failure investigating why the forest products industry is not innovative by nature and exploring the external acquisition of innovation in the forest products industry      Forest and Biomass Harvest and Logistics Jingxin Wang, 2022-11-26 This book explains forest and woody biomass harvest harvesting machines systems logistics supply chain management best management practices harvest scheduling and carbon sequestration It also covers applications of harvesting principles in forest and biomass management practices The book provides an in depth understanding of functions and applications of current and future harvesting technologies the unique characteristics of harvesting machine with respect to cost productivity and environmental impacts Special features include harvest machine illustrations and images of field operations tabular presentations of field studies of forest operations and detailed modelling processes for forest and biomass harvest logistics and supply chain management Specifically the book is designed for students researchers educators and practitioners in the field of forest and biomass harvest and logistics The book s contents have been tested in teaching as the Harvesting Forest Product class for undergraduates and graduates in the Division of Forestry and Natural Resources at West Virginia University since 2000 The information contained in this book is a robust reference resource for students who would be future forest and biomass managers timber contractors entrepreneurs researchers and educators in the fields of forest and biomass operations engineering and resource management
