The Invisible Companion Mavis Darling, When Markus Rodriguez a man of inexhaustible manic palpable energy was officially diagnosed with Parkinson s disease he his wife and children thought their world had come to an end They had no idea of the meaning of the disease or what it entailed and as a matter of fact they had never heard of such an illness After all before they traveled from Nassau Bahamas to the Brain Memorial Hospital in Miami Florida for a second opinion Markus was told that his condition had everything to do with the fact that he was aging He was sixty seven years old at the time He owed his peace of mind in dealing with the condition to his fervent belief in God to help him deal with the progression and severity of the illness his wife for her constant support and his children His family was the driving force in his acceptance of this debilitating condition Nevertheless he questioned God on several occasions but at the end of each encounter with God he was gently reminded of prophets and Bible persons who were sorely challenged and that he was not better than them After several months he stopped questioning why him and began to ask why not him He was a successful businessman he enjoyed everything he dealt with and he was very generous to his fellowmen He feared the eventuality that he would increasingly become dependent on his wife and children and not being able to continue with his business ventures The ultimate challenges he faced he turned them into opportunities and found himself advocating for a disease he so despised He told everyone he knew everything he found out about the condition

Jesus Christ as Ancestor Reuben Turbi Luka,2019-08-31 In this critical study Dr Turbi Luka uses historical theological methodology to engage in detail with Christologies of key African theologians and conventional theological sources for Christology including the church fathers Tertullian and Athanasius as well as modern theologians Turbi argues that existing African Christologies specifically ancestor Christologies are inadequate in expressing the person of Christ as

Messiah and saviour the fulfilment of Old Testament prophecies Providing a new approach Turbi proposes an African Linguistic Affinity Christology that explicitly portrays Jesus as Christ in a contextually relevant way for Africans in everyday life This crucial study highlights the need for biblically rooted Christology and for sound theological understanding and naming of Jesus at every level This book also warns the church in Africa and elsewhere to avoid repeating the dangerous christological heresies of the ancient church by remaining faithful to a biblical interpretation and orthodox theology of Christ
