

1. The first part of the document is a letter from the President of the United States to the Congress, dated January 3, 1801. It is a very important document, as it is the first time that the President has addressed the Congress since the adoption of the Constitution. The letter is written in a very formal and dignified style, and it contains many important points. The President begins by expressing his gratitude to the Congress for the honor of electing him to the office of President. He then goes on to discuss the state of the Union, and the progress of the government. He mentions the many difficulties that the government has faced, and the many successes that it has achieved. He also discusses the future of the government, and the steps that he has taken to ensure its stability and prosperity.
