Toward a Recovery of Nineteenth Century Farming Handbooks

While researching texts written about nineteenth century farming, I found a few authors who published books about the literature of nineteenth century farming, particularly agricultural journals, newspapers, pamphlets, and brochures. These authors often placed the farming literature they were studying into an historical context by discussing the important events in agriculture of the year in which the literature was published (see Demaree, for example). However, while these authors discuss journals, newspapers, pamphlets, and brochures, I could not find much discussion about another important source of farming knowledge: farming handbooks. My goal in this paper is to bring this source into the agricultural literature discussion by connecting three agricultural handbooks from the nineteenth century with nineteenth century agricultural history.

To achieve this goal, I have organized my paper into four main sections, two of which have sub-sections. In the first section, I provide an account of three important events in nineteenth century agricultural history: population and technological changes, the distribution of scientific new knowledge, and farming's influence on education. In the second section, I discuss three nineteenth century farming handbooks in connection with the important events described in the first section. I end my paper

Titles are centered and written in 12-point, Times New Roman font. The title is not bolded, underlined, or italicized.

The thesis statement usually is the last sentence of the introduction.

The thesis is a clear position that you will support and develop throughout your paper. This sentence guides or controls your paper.

MLA requires double-spacing throughout a document; do not single-space any part of the document.

The introductory paragraph, or introduction, should set the context for the rest of the paper. Tell your readers why you are writing and why your topic is important.

If your paper is long, you may want to write about how your paper is organized. This will help your readers follow your ideas.

Format For Writing A Paper:

Jensen's Format Writing Frode Jensen, 2016-10-04 Jensen's Format Writing is concerned with developing expository writing skills for high school students. This type of writing exposes, puts forth, explains, reveals, or exhibits in detail about something. It has a purpose to inform, clarify, and perhaps even to persuade. Such writing may simply describe, or it may give a series of reasons. In any case, there is a fundamental point that is made. How that point is made may often determine whether the piece is accepted or rejected. Students completing this course will learn valuable skills: the secret of cutting your work in half when it comes to writing a paper; how to order your presentation for its most powerful effect on the reader; a technique for getting the essence of what you read down on paper for future reference; how to stack up your ideas so that they flow together in a natural fashion; how to move ideas from sentence to sentence by following a simple rule; all about what and how to document your sources when doing research and writing. A Guide to Writing Sociology Papers Roseann Giarrusso, University of California, Los Angeles. Sociology Writing Group, 2001-02-15 Ideal for instructors and students in a wide range of sociological courses, this guide makes the case that thinking and writing are integrally related and that writing therefore exercises the sociological imagination. Written in a clear and conversational style, A Guide to Writing Sociology Papers examines a wide range of writing assignments for sociology courses at all levels of the curriculum. Employing a variety of writing samples as a means to illustrate effective writing, this brief and inexpensive text teaches students how to deftly research and write about sociology. A Manual for Writers of Research Papers, Theses, and Dissertations, Seventh Edition Kate L. Turabian, 2009-08-14 Dewey Bellow Strauss Friedman The University of Chicago has been the home of some of the most important thinkers of the modern age. But perhaps no name has been spoken with more respect than Turabian. The dissertation secretary at Chicago for decades, Kate Turabian literally wrote the book on the successful completion and submission of the student paper. Her Manual for Writers of Research Papers, Theses, and Dissertations created from her years of experience with research projects across all fields, has sold more than seven million copies since it was first published in 1937. Now with this seventh edition, Turabian's Manual has undergone its most extensive revision, ensuring that it will remain the most valuable handbook for writers at every level, from first-year undergraduates to dissertation writers apprehensively submitting final manuscripts to senior scholars who may be old hands at research and writing but less familiar with new media citation styles. Gregory G. Colomb, Joseph M. Williams, and the late Wayne C. Booth, the gifted team behind The Craft of Research and the University of Chicago Press Editorial Staff, combined their wide-ranging expertise to remake this classic resource. They preserve Turabian's clear and practical advice while fully embracing the new modes of research, writing, and source citation brought about by the age of the Internet. Booth, Colomb, and Williams significantly expand the scope of previous editions by creating a guide generous in length and tone to the art of research and writing. Growing out of the authors' best-selling Craft of Research, this new section provides students with an overview of every step of the research and writing process from formulating the right questions to reading critically to building arguments and revising drafts This leads naturally to the second part of the Manual for Writers which offers an authoritative overview of citation practices in scholarly writing as well as detailed information on the two main citation styles notes bibliography and author date This section has been fully revised to reflect the recommendations of the fifteenth edition of The Chicago Manual of Style and to present an expanded array of source types and updated examples including guidance on citing electronic sources The final section of the book treats issues of style the details that go into making a strong paper Here writers will find advice on a wide range of topics including punctuation table formatting and use of quotations The appendix draws together everything writers need to know about formatting research papers theses and dissertations and preparing them for submission This material has been thoroughly vetted by dissertation officials at colleges and universities across the country This seventh edition of Turabian's Manual for Writers of Research Papers Theses and Dissertations is a classic reference revised for a new age It is tailored to a new generation of writers using tools its original author could not have imagined while retaining the clarity and authority that generations of scholars have come to associate with the name Turabian
